Uniforms declared a 'done deal' in Hancock

Board questions Kopf's decision to use 'confusing' parent surveys

BY SHANNON JENKINS
Staff Writer

Members of the Hancock County School Board said at their meeting Thursday that, despite some parental concerns - the new uniform policy is a "done deal."

Eight parents were listed on the agenda with addresses to the board and others took the opportunity to speak under the hot topics discussion. Prior to the addresses to the board, president Peggy Ladner informed parents the uniform policy would be implemented for the 2004-2005 school year.

Despite Ladner's statement, several parents voiced their opposition before the board on Thursday. Most parents told the board the uniforms would cause financial hardship while others argued the policy took away their freedom.

One parent, Richard Lott, said he was prepared to do "whatever it takes" to reverse the board's decision. Another said the policy could be undone.

"It is a policy decision, and it is final," Ladner said in a statement to The Sea Coast Echo. "There are parents who have already begun shopping for the approved clothing, and they can be assured if there are any revisions to the policy, the revisions will only deal with the language or terminology of the policy."

David Kopf

Peggy Ladner

Ladner also voiced concerns about a survey which was recently sent out to the schools.

"These surveys were not distributed by the school board," she said. "The board members had no knowledge of the survey until some of us began receiving phone calls from some concerned parents."

A large amount of confusion in the community concerning the policy, Ladner said, was due to erroneous information being circulated.

"It's unfortunate the survey just added to the confusion," she said.

Ladner said the board considered the survey to be invalid for various reasons.

"Board members have

New drainage system plagued with sinkholes and 72 'trouble spots'

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Staff Writer

City officials who crawled through Bay St. Louis' newest drainage pipes have documented dozens of problem spots that need repairs.

In a preliminary report issued last week, the Public Works Department's Buddy Zimmerman reported finding 11 sinkholes - most of them on Second Street - and another 72 problem spots beneath the streets.

The recent inspection was in response to city concerns of major deficiencies developing in "Project C."

The U.S. Supreme Court's Roe vs. Wade decision in 1973 made first trimester abortion legal in the United States. Since that time about 42 million abortions have been performed as of 2003, about 1.5 million a year or 4,400 a day. Parishioners from Annunciation Parish have put up a display of crosses on a 5 acre site on Hwy. 603 in Kiln to illustrate the number of abortions performed daily in the United States. The statue of Christ on the Cross was made by one of the parishioners.

Waveland Civic Association celebrates 40th annual St. Patrick's Parade this Saturday

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Waveland Civic Association will sponsor its 40th annual St. Patrick's parade on Saturday March 13 beginning at 2 p.m.

Since this is their 40th annual parade, the Waveland Civic Association would like to share a bit of history that goes back to February, 1964. On that date, a group of friends gathered at Villere's bar on Coleman Avenue and decided to celebrate St. Patrick's Day by meeting again for corned beef, cabbage and refreshments on the Saturday before St. Patrick's Day. With further discussion, it was decided that there should be a parade.

Among those present at that historical meeting were Joe and Lillian Griffin, Oswald and Clarisse Villere, Bob and Fran Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gandee, Dr. and Mrs. Bosch and others.

At one dollar per plate, the dinner was a success, and the first St. Patrick's Day parade began at 2PM. On Saturday, March 14, 1964. Parading down Coleman Avenue from Waveland School, which was at that time on Coleman Avenue, were floats, bands, boy and girl scout units, the Waveland Volunteer Fire Department, bicycles, the American Legion 40 and 8 locomotive, marchers, cars, the first Grand Marshall, Joe Griffin and the first Colleen, Terri Gandee, who was called the queen and was riding a float borrowed from Waveland School and escorted by mounted horseman.

In her column "Polly Peers" in the Sea Coast Echo on March 19, 1964, Polly - Mazarakis - wrote: "The only time we've ever noted even half as many people on Coleman Avenue is election night!" The crowd was estimated at almost 1000.

The second and third annual parades were also successful, although the third was threatened by a brief downpour which caused the colors of the crepe paper costumes worn by the leprechauns and their leader, Debbie Lucas, to run in various shades of brown and green.

Following the third parade, the decision was made to form a permanent organization to perpetuate the event. At this time it was decided that an organization would be formed which would be active in civic affairs and continue the annual St. Patrick's Day parade. That action was the beginning of the Waveland Civic Association which had been previously called the Waveland Mens Club. It was also decided that a dance would be held on the evening of the parade where the Grand Marshall, Colleen and her maids would be presented. Eventually the day of the dance was changed to the Saturday before the parade by a motion passed at the January meeting in 1972.

On March 3, 1967, the candidates for membership met at Waveland City Hall, and the 100 charter members were signed in and temporary officers elected.

Since receiving its charter, The Waveland Civic Association has participated in many activities and programs for the betterment of the social, cultural, charitable and benevolent activities of the citizens of Waveland and the surrounding area. The Waveland Civic Association has sponsored a fireworks display on the beach on the Sunday before Labor Day from 1972-2002 as well as the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy telethon from 1977-present. The association has raised $10,000 for the 911 Disaster Relief Fund, and has participated, sponsored, and supported numerous other projects in the Waveland area.

The Waveland Civic Association has come a long way since it began back in 1964. Members of the Waveland Civic Association take great pride in keeping up with a tradition that started so many years ago. Because of this, the St. Patrick's ball and parade are larger than ever, as well as the crowd that gathers along the parade route to witness this magnificent event.

Anyone wishing to participate in the Waveland Civic Association St. Patrick's Day parade can call for an application either Jay Fountain at 467-2198, David Garcia at 467-2042 or M.J. Krankey at 466-3923.

Entry fee for family floats is $40 and organizations/business floats is $75. All entrants must fill out an application. Applications must be received by the Waveland Civic Association by Friday, March 12 by 12:00 PM.

There will be first, second and third place trophies awarded in all categories. Categories include family floats, organization/business floats, and marching groups. In addition, all floats will be judged and awarded first, second, and third place trophies for most original, overall best show, best costume and honorable mention.

Bay FD emergency pre-planning

Each year the Bay Saint Louis Fire Department undergoes emergency pre-planning for high occupancy, high life safety risk buildings. The pre-planning addresses fire safety and hurricane preparedness.

The initial inspections are made by each of the department's three shifts; their observations and information compiled, reviewed and plans developed addressing several "what if" situations. The final plans are prepared and are kept aboard Engines 1 and 2, and the fire station. "Dunbar Village recently completed a $1,360,000 building renovation and expansion and their clientele is either aged or incapacitated to some degree. We have to be vigilant in our protection preparedness. We have to know where people and critical equipment are located. This is also true of Hancock Medical Center, Notre Dame de la Mar and our schools," said Deputy Chief Pam San Fillippo.

The department has used department and grant funds to update equipment to meet the needs of high-risk situations including water safety/rescue kits for Engine 1, which include personal flotation devices, throw ropes and net bags for equipment.

"Many of us remember the flooding of several hurricanes which prevented or severely handicapped our getting to the Dunbar Village location. We don't want this to happen again," said Chief Robert Gavagnie.

The cooking vests were purchased for use in intensive situations where hot weather is also a major factor for firefighters. The vests are kept refrigerated and during the hot months moved daily to ice chests kept aboard the service engines. The vest is worn under the padded protective clothing worn by all firefighters on an active scene.

"It is a constant, daily effort for our fire fighting teams to stay abreast of changes as they occur in the community including where the paving truck is working today to when a hurricane is expected to make landfall so that we can always have a quick response to any number of situations," he said.

Christmas strikes again on April 24

Special day to benefit some Hancock County residents

Christmas may have passed, but Christmas in Hancock County will be on Saturday, April 24.

Hancock County organizers have been very busy in recent weeks and have come up with a dozen or so deserving residents in need of help. Christmas in April is when folks from the community come together to repair and rehabilitate the homes of low income and elderly of the community.

Several teams sponsored by churches, businesses, industry, etc. have been formed, yet, there is still more help and materials needed, according to Margaret Hadden.

Mrs. Hadden along with several others made Christmas in April a reality in Hancock County.

There is still a need for more volunteers from organizations, business, individuals, etc.

All types of trades can be used, and volunteers do not need to be skilled at home repairs, but any skills will be utilized.

Hadden is still much involved in Christmas in April in Hancock County and acts as the groups spokesperson.

In conversation with Hadden on Friday morning, she said there is also a need for funds to purchase supplies, and also donations for supplies for the necessary work.

Christmas in April does repairs in the following areas: carpentry, plumbing, electrical, plastering, painting, weather stripping, as well as trash removal and cleaning. So all types of supplies can be used. The local Christmas in April is a 501(c)(3) organization and an arm of the Harrison County Christmas in April.

FCC hears from South Mississippi

I have received thousands of e-mails in response to the recent indecency that has been exhibited on prime-time broadcast television. I too was disappointed that such obscene and vulgar content was able to make its way into primetime television, a time regarded as a safe haven for family viewing.

Over the past year these incidents have become more frequent and culminated with the MTV Super Bowl half-time show involving Nelly, P. Diddy, Janet Jackson, and Justin Timberlake. I feel CBS displayed poor judgment by allowing MTV to plan the half-time show and should have employed a broadcast delay to censor inappropriate language and actions. A year ago, rock star Bono was the center of attention for using an obscene word on stage at the 2003 CBS broadcast of the Golden Globe Awards. I feel that we must let our networks, entertainers, and government regulators know that this behavior is unacceptable and will carry a hefty penalty.

After the 2003 Golden Globe Award incident I was greatly disappointed that the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) failed to discipline those involved. There are numerous forms of

IN CONGRESS

By Representative Gene Taylor

penalty that would have been appropriate in this case. Yet, neither the Golden Globe Awards, CBS, or Bono received a reprimand of any kind for their involvement in the broadcast of a word that is acknowledged by the FCC as "crude and offensive."

There has always been a general understanding that broadcast television and basic cable were not appropriate outlets for what is considered adult content. Those who paid the extra money for premium channels did so for the purpose of viewing a specific content that does not appeal to the general public. Those who chose to view broadcast and basic cable television did so to access a more generally acceptable content and format. The incidents at the 2003 Golden Globe Awards and this year's Super Bowl Half Time Show completely went against this long accepted division that people and families came to trust and expect.

In response to these incidents I have written letters to the FCC Chairman and President Bush. Since four of the Commission members were appointed by President Bush and the Chairman was his designee, I felt it appropriate to inform both the Chairman and the President that South Mississippi is not happy with the way the FCC has handled the regulation of content on prime time broadcast television.

The response from lawmakers and citizens to the inaction of the FCC has been large and effective. Finally, the Commission has been quite responsive to the call for better regulation. Following the Super Bowl half-time show FCC Chairman Michael Powell called for an immediate investigation of the incident and pledged to impose the maximum fine of $27,500 for each CBS-owned station affiliate. He has also said that he will personally direct the investigation.

The FCC is in charge of regulating communication made through radio, television, wire, satellite, and cable. The five Commissioners are appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate for 5-year terms. President Bush designated Michael K. Powell as Chairman of the FCC on January 22, 2001. The President also appointed the remaining four Commissioners that were all confirmed by the Republican Senate.

The FCC is an independent government agency that is directly responsible to Congress. Although the Commission is responsible to Congress, the U.S. House of Representatives has no power over who is appointed or confirmed to be commissioners. Historically, the FCC and its commissioners have done a good job of regulating inappropriate content. Lately, this has not been the case. As a result, we reached a point where the FCC could either restore its proper role in the industry or have Congress step in.

It is my hope that we can halt this trend of inappropriate content in the broadcast industry. I have added my name as a co-sponsor to H.R. 3717, the Broadcast Decency Enforcement Act, introduced

Bush's 9-11 campaign disturbs Bay resident

I am disturbed over the new wave of ads coming from the Bush-Cheney re-election campaign that depict the tragedies of 9-11 as a political backdrop.

To link the valorous behavior demonstrated by both the United States Government and its citizens to the Bush presidency is both an outrage and an insult to all of the individuals who, regardless of political affiliation, responded with courage and decisiveness in a time of National crisis.

Throughout history all American Presidents, regardless of their Political Party, have risen to the challenge of defending our nation in times of crisis. Franklin D.

Roosevelt, a Democrat, rose to the challenge of Pearl Harbor, President Kennedy, a Democrat, rose to the challenge of the Cuban Missile Crisis and the list goes on.

Nevertheless, these leaders did very little compared to the American people. The America People worked in the factories, built the planes and tanks, and fought on the battlefields.

Our courage, sweat, blood, and sacrifice brought victory. Saying one man or one Administration is responsible for the courage and honor of the American people disrespects all of us.

On Jan. 23, 2003, the Associated Press reported that President Bush said, "I have no ambition whatsoever to use this as a political issue."

Now, he is doing precisely that. It is sad to see that politics in America has sunk to this level.

I hope that here in Mississippi we can see beyond the political spin and rhetoric and know that the American people responded to the events of 9-11 as they always have, with courage and honor; not because of who is in the White House, but because that is both our history and our legacy.

Pass Christian Garden Club earns Arbor Day recognition

THE SEA COAST ECHO

For the 13th year, the Pass Christian Garden Club has been recognized by the Arbor Day Foundation for its annual Arbor Day tree plantings.

The ceremony for the planting of a Chestnut Oak and a River Birch was held Feb. 13 at the garden club's William Bartram Arboretum on Menge Avenue, conducted by its trustees mistress of ceremonies Helen Davis, Margie Walle and Mary Catherine Ward.

Presenting the Tree City USA flag to Helen Davis and the club was Todd Matthews of the Mississippi State Forestry Commission.

Club member Shirley Williams led the assembled group in singing "God Bless America," and Irene Hodges read a prayer.

Pass Christian Mayor Billy McDonald proclaimed Feb. 13, 2004, as Arbor Day in the city, and he noted that Arbor Day was first proposed in 1872 in Nebraska and that it was first observed in that state with the planting of more than a million trees.

The Mayor's proclamation stressed the importance of trees to our environment, as "habitat for wildlife," and as a "renewable resource" for wood products. From the proclamation, he read that "trees in our city increase property values, enhance the economic vitality of business areas, and beautify our community, and ... wherever they are planted, are a source of joy and spiritual renewal."

Other garden club members participating included Peggy Johnson, community development and code officer for the city; Margie Walle, with the Pass Christian Tree Board and 'Société' des Arbres, who explained about the list of live oak trees in the city older than 100 years; Michele Smith, who spoke on the importance of trees; Elsie Hutto who talked about William Bartram for whom the arboretum is named; and Evelyn Hutchins, Wildflower Garden committee member.

Dignitaries also present were Jeffery Taylor, Pass Christian Tree Board representative; Harrison County Supervisor Martin Ladner; Kenny Wittmann, city building inspector; and Roger Cotton, city custodian.

on Jan. 21, 2004. If signed into law, this bill will increase the maximum fine for indecent and profane radio and television broadcasts from $27,500 per violation to $275,000 per violation.

It is apparent that the current fine is too low to be an effective deterrent for broadcasting companies that make billions of dollars. The ten-fold increase in the fine would send a clear message to stations that the American public will not tolerate indecency being broadcast into their living rooms.

After the incident last year at the Golden Globe Awards involving Bono, I signed on as a co-sponsor of H.Con.Res.298, a bill that expresses the sense of Congress that the federal obscenity laws should be vigorously enforced throughout the United States. In addition, I have always been a strong supporter of congressional and regulatory action to bring obscenity, profanity, and vulgarity under control where television broadcasting is concerned. I fully supported the implementation of V-chip technology and the advent of the television rating system. Despite these innovations, I still feel that parents should monitor what their children view. Moreover, I feel the best way to avoid indecency on television is to turn it off and pick up a good book.

Television stations should be held accountable for their content.

I am proud to represent an area that still holds itself to a higher standard. I hope we can work to restore decency and respectability to our airwaves.

I will always advocate the vigorous enforcement of our federal obscenity laws.

Bay & Hancock in the 'Big House'; SSC returns home

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The Bay High Lady Tigers and the Hancock Lady Hawks will continue their quest for a gold ball and state title at the "Big House" in Jackson this week.

The Lady Tigers will do battle with the Lady War Eagles of Wayne County on Monday, March 8, at 6:30pm.

The Lady Tigers and Lady War Eagles have matched wits twice this season. In an early season tournament, Wayne County got the best of Bay High winning by only two points in an overtime matchup. The second meeting was in the first game of the South State tournament at Northeast Jones. The Lady War Eagles bested the Lady Tigers by six points in that game.

Bay High, the defending Class 4A state champion, fought back from as much as 14 points down against Pontotoc in the quarter-finals of the Class 4A girls state tournament to win the game 58-50.

The Lady Tigers (28-6) are the #3-seed from the South while the Lady War Eagles (27-6) are the South champion. If the Lady Tigers win, they will play in the Class 4A state title game for the third consecutive year and the fourth time under head coach Debbie Triplett. They would play the winner of the Jackson Callaway (28-3, North Champion) and Northeast Jones (30-3, South runner-up).

The Lady Hawks (26-4, South Champion) claimed their first ever South State 5A title last week when they dismantled the Lady Knights of Warren Central. By virtue of the #1-seed from the South, the Lady Hawks earned a bye in the first round of the state tournament.

The Lady Hawks will play the Lady Arrows of Clinton (22-12, North runner-up) on Wednesday, March 10 at 6:30pm. The winner of that game will advance to the Class 5A girls state championship game against the winner of the Tupelo (22-11, North Champion) and Warren Central/Jackson Murrah game.

The Lady Hawks have not played the Lady Arrows of Clinton this year. Clinton defeated the Lady Admirals of Gulfport on Thursday, March 4, by the score of 69-59 to advance. Hancock most recently won state titles in girls basketball in consecutive seasons of 1978 and 1979.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws' (28-9, South third) bid for a state title came to a close on Tuesday, March 2 at the hands of All-State guard Charlie White and the Jackson Province Rams (30-6, North runner-up). The Rams defeated the upset-minded Rock-a-chaws 48-34 in a game that was not nearly what the score showed.

The Rocks fought back from a quick 6-0 deficit in the first period to a 6-5 difference by the period's end. The two teams were knotted at 17-17 at intermission.

The Rocks' mixture of patience on offense and stingy defense kept the Rams' and Charlie White out of sync during the entire first half.

Rob Murray and Darius Acker carried SSC in the first half with Acker breaking the 6-0 Rams run with a three-pointer for the Rocks' first points. Murray finished the half with 12 of SSC's 17 points, all coming on three-point plays.

The second half was much of the same. The patience on offense for SSC kept them within striking distance of securing perhaps the most dramatic upset in state tournament history. SSC was down just 30-26 after three periods.

With just 2:22 left and Provine nursing a 37-34 advantage, Ramsey Shawa went to the line for SSC. He missed the front-end of a 1-and-1 opportunity and the Rams got a quick basket after the rebound. A Rock turnover resulted in a quick two points for Provine and just like that, the #2-ranked team in the state was up by seven points.

SSC was forced into a fouling situation and the Rams converted on 7-of-9 free throws in the final 1:04 to make the final difference.

Lewis sets 3200m record at SSC meet

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws' track team hosted a work meet on Wednesday, March 3 at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex. Kyle Lewis, a standout track and cross country runner for SSC who earlier signed with the University of Mississippi, was a triple winner and set a new school record in the 3200m run.

The meet consisted of both junior high and senior high boys and girls participants. SSC was the host school among Picayune, Mercy Cross, Vancleave and OLA.

In the junior high girls division, Picayune scored 70 points to claim the win followed by OLA with 54 points, Vancleave 49 and Mercy Cross 11 points.

Jody Donlin of OLA was a triple-winner in the 1600m run (7:15), the high jump (4'0), and the 800m run. OLA also won the 1600m relay in 6:01.

Second place finishers for OLA were Sharon Leslie in the high jump, Blalock in the long jump, and Kaitlyn Stovall in the 800m run.

Third place athletes for OLA were Olivia Campbell in the 100m and 200m dashes. Stovall also claimed third place in the 400m dash and 1600m run. OLA's relay team placed third in both the 400m and 800m relays.

In the junior high boys division, the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws finished second with 62 points behind Vancleave's 83 points. Picayune was third overall with 57 points.

Connor Smith claimed the lone first place finish for SSC with a 9' pole vault effort. Jeremiah Morgan was second in the same event. Smith was also runner-up in the 800m run.

Dale Johnson was second in the shotput and third in the discus for SSC. Alejandro Gonzalez was second in the high jump followed by Pablo Puja in third place. Javier Gutierrez placed third in the long jump. Bryan Comer was third in the 800m run and Luke Frank crossed the line in third in the 1600m run.

SSC placed third in all three relays - the 400m, 800m and 1600m.

In varsity girls action, the OLA Crescents won the meet with 74 points followed by Vancleave with 67 points, Picayune 61 and Mercy Cross with 29 points.

Jennifer Asper brought home the lone first place finish for the Crescents in the 3200m run with a time of 12:59.59. She also finished second in the 1600m and 800m runs and third in the 300m hurdles.

Erin Stechman claimed second in the discus and third in the shotput while Jamie Reisch took third in the long jump.

Mandy Donlin brought home third in the 1600m run and Kaitlyn Bosley was third in the triple jump. Margaret Rittiner placed third in the 400m run and Elissa Kergosien was third in the 200m dash. Caroline Boelte finished runner-up in the triple jump while Amanda Allard was second in the high jump. Erin Casey and Emily Hoff each finished second in the 400m dash and the 300m hurdles, respectively. OLA also claimed a runner-up position in the 1600m relay.

In varsity boys competition, the Rock-a-chaws scored 87 points and placed second to Picayune's 100 points. Vancleave scored 42 points for third and Mercy Cross tallied 21 points.

SSC long distance runner and Ole Miss signee, Kyle Lewis, started the day off with a record-setting time in the 3200m run. Lewis ran a 9:36 to eclipse the previous record of 9:38 held by Brian Brooks.

Lewis also won the 1600m run in 4:32, which is just four seconds off the school record, and the 800m in 2:06.

Nick Weinmann was a double-winner in the shotput and discus with distances of 43' 4 1/2" and 126'

4 1/2", respectively.

Beau Brodtmann and Sam Hudgens were both winners in the 400m dash (55.06) and 300m intermediate hurdles (42.9), respectively.

Will Loftus placed second in the discus and Bobby Nilson was second in the 1600m run. Sam Hudgens added a runner-up finish in the 110m high hurdles to his work sheet for the meet.

Jake Johnson brought home a second place finish in the long jump and third place finishes in the triple jump and the pole vault. Josh Robinson placed third in the 200m dash for SSC.

The 400m and 800m relay teams for SSC both placed third overall while the 1600m relay team took home runner-up honors.

Pass comes from behind for 5-1 win over Stanislaus

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

On Friday, March 5, the Pass Christian Pirates and the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws locked horns on the baseball diamond in a Division Class 4A matchup.

Heading into the sixth inning, the Rocks held a narrow 1-0 lead and limited Pass Christian to just one hit. However, all that changed on the third batter of nine in the inning for Pass High.

SSC walked both batters to start the inning. Chris Dahl smacked a two-run double to give the Pirates the lead for good. After 111 pitches and 10 strikeouts, Rocks hurler Tim Kulikowski surrendered the mound to junior Alex Nunez. Ben Malley welcomed Nunez to the game with a two-run dinger over the leftfield fence to make the score 4-1 and give Pass High some insurance.

Later in the same inning, Jeremy Bailey connected on a Nunez pitch that drove in the final Pirate run and made the score 5-1.

The Rocks (2-5, 0-2) got their run in the bottom of the fifth inning. Tim Kulikowski walked to start the inning and a courtesy runner, Zach Elkins, came on to run for the pitcher. Spencer Ziegler hit a shot to right-centerfield that put Elkins on third and Ziegler on second. Lee Klein sacrificed Elkins home to give SSC the 1-0, advantage heading into the Pirates big inning.

Dustin Allen pitched a complete game for Pass High allowing one run on three hits and struck out 8 batters. Lee Klein, Spencer Ziegler, and Dillon Drake all tallied hits for SSC.

Tim Kulikowski pitched five complete innings for SSC and struck out 10 batters while allowing three runs on two hits.

Also, on Friday, March 4, the Our Lady Academy Crescents rode the arm of pitcher Rachel Cuevas and their defense to secure a 3-1 win over the Lady Indians of Biloxi on the diamond.

Cuevas (2-0) fanned four batters and the OLA defense did a spectacular job of keeping the Biloxi baserunners off the path.

OLA (2-3) scored two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning and Raimy Barnes added some insurance for OLA in the bottom of the sixth inning. Barnes hit an RBI single that scored Rachel Wright for the final tally of 3-1.

Erin Casey, Barnes, and Jordan Fisher all had two hits in the game while Lakesia Ducksworth and Adrian Gannon each had one hit. Wright scored twice and Cuevas scored once for the Crescents.

In earlier diamond action, the Hancock Lady Hawks claimed a 9-4 win over the Long Beach Lady Bearcats in high school softball action on February 27. Jessica Dubuisson recorded the win on the mound for Hancock (2-1).

Also, on February 27, the Pass Christian Pirates were defeated by St. Martin 4-2 and Harrison Central 1-0 which evened their record at 2-2 for the season. The Picayune Maroon Tide squeaked by St. Stanislaus 9-8 on a close call at the plate. Brian Whitman took the loss for the 2-1 Rocks while Spencer Ziegler and Stephen Keel each had two hits for SSC.

The St. John Eagles invoked the 10-run rule on the Hancock Hawks 10-0 on February 27.

On Tuesday, March 2, the Pass Christian Pirates picked up a Division 8-4A win over Gautier 4-1. Brett Sanders was the winning pitcher and Cory Ladner picked up two hits for Pass Christian (3-4, 1-0).

In high school softball, the Lady Pirates of Pass Christian beat up on the Lady Gators of Gautier for a Division 8-4A win 11-3. Jennifer Jones collected three hits while Amber Ladner and Morgan Ladner each had two hits. Amber Epperson fanned 13 batters and surrendered only three hits en route to the win for Pass Christian (1-2, 1-0).

Motocross banned at Hancock arena

BY BENNIE
SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Motocross events can't seem to find a home in Hancock County.

Two events held this year at the Hancock County Equine and Livestock Arena brought renewed protest from horse riders who use the facility, spurring a six to one vote by the board to deny future motocross events at the arena.

A vote by the board at Tuesday's meeting repeated the results of a poll vote taken last week. Only Terry Wilson voted in favor of the events. A couple of dozen motocross fans and horse riders turned out at the meeting to express their views.

Motocross event promoter Kenny Bilbo, who spoke to Supervisors on Monday, said the two events he put on last year made money for the facility, $1,400 at a May event and $1,300 at a December event, more than any other two day event, he said.

On Tuesday, Board member Byron Ladner disagreed. He said the event cost the facility. But the heart of the controversy wasn't money. It was dirt. Horse enthusiasts said that the dirt brought in for motocross events ruined the fine mixture of sand and topsoil needed for safe and successful equine events.

Horse rider Tiffany Johnson also complained that motorcycles tore up the road and outside track, filling them with holes and rocks.

The change in the soil mixture makes it dangerous for a rider and the horse because the dirt is packed too hard after a motocross event, she said. The hard packed dirt can cause a horse to fall and even pull tendons or break a leg.

Motocross riders said they thought the arena should be a shared space for all types of events, not just livestock events. Most said they would be willing to make the rules of participation tougher to avoid problems.

Mark Chrisman said that a rider who deliberately tore up the ground should be disqualified and asked to leave. Chrisman tried to open a motocross track outside Kila a couple of years ago, but Supervisors ordered it closed after neighbors complained about the noise.

The only solution one resident said, would be to completely change out the dirt each time a motocross event was held, replacing the regular mix when the event was over. Road Superintendent Roger Ladner said this could cost $4,000 to $5,000.

Jelinski named Hancock Parent of the Year

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Lydia Jelinski of Diamondhead has been selected Hancock County School District's Parent of the Year for the 2003-2004 school year. She is the wife of Jim Jelinski, and mother of three children, Jessica, age 13, Jamie, age 11, and Joseph, age 9.

Presently, Jelinski serves as Vice President of the Parent Teacher Organization at East Hancock Elementary and has assisted with numerous activities as a parent volunteer at East Hancock Middle School, and with special projects

Lydia Jelinski

Hancock High School. Some of these include booster club, for middle school dance team, historical scrapbook committee, and grade level representation at East Hancock and other essential school events. Her color guard squad instructor for the past year, she also led the school. She also led the time at the three school sites as a photographer for special events, chaperone for field trips, and a workshop coordinator. She is a well-deserved volunteer, and a dedicated parent of the year. She is a member of the Hancock School District and provided a valuable time and talents assisting with fundraisers, field days, school plays, open house, and other essential school events.

In addition, Lydia Jelinski was named outstanding Girl Scout leader in 2002 and outstanding Girl Scout volunteer in 2003. She has devoted her time to serving as swim team parent in charge of special events from 1998-2002 and a religious education instructor for four years. ## Prendergast promoted Mayor Eddie Favre has announced that Fire Captain Louis Prendergast has been promoted to Fire Safety Coordinator, effective. Prendergast has been a member of the Bay Saint Louis Fire Department for twenty years, working his way through the ranks from firefighter, Lieutenant, Shift Officer and Captain of C Shift for the last 10 years.

The Fire Department has been reorganizing its personnel job requirements and the position of Fire Safety Coordinator is new in name and combination of duties. Prendergast will be responsible for the scheduling and coordination of fire prevention activities and related events, an activity that is second nature to Prendergast, who has years of experience teaching CPR and other safety classes to the private and business community. In fact, when his promotion was being announced Monday morning he was teaching CPR classes to Casino Magic employees.

Prendergast, who will work under the direction of Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie, will have the following additional duties to coordinate, schedule and assist with fire safety programs and related employee and community training, programs, and events; assist with building inspections and pre-incident planning as needed; oversee and assist with vehicle and equipment care and maintenance; oversee and assist with repair and maintenance of fire station(s); obtain tools, equipment and supplies for station use, including procurement of station supplies for hurricane preparedness; assist with the Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund activities and other special events, and maintain documentation and records as required.

Prendergast has experience working with the Waveland, Diamondhead and Stennis Space Center fire departments in addition to his training and service with Bay Saint Louis. He is a graduate of Bay Saint Louis High School, Mississippi Fire Academy and has numerous special credentials in fire fighting earned throughout his many years of service.

Coordinator Prendergast is married to the former Shirley Ready and they have three sons, Louis, Patrick and Tyler.

"This position was a natural progression for Louis, he is a 'people person' well qualified and experienced in being a department liaison for fire and safety education. Beginning in April the department will be happy to schedule Prendergast for civic and social group meetings, school and related activities where the Fire Department has a role," said Chief Gavagnie.

Facilities upgraded

The fire prevention and protection facilities of the East Hancock Fire Protection District have been upgraded to a Class 8 fire insurance classification, the Bureau announced recently.

State Rep. Diane Peranich, right, of Pass Christian earned about workforce issues while visiting the Capitol Rotunda Display of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission (MESC). MESC staffer Don Antrim updated her on workforce issues.

New jobless claims continue to drop

BY MATT VOLZ
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER
JACKSON, Miss. (AP)

The number of Mississippians filing new unemployment claims continues to drop, and the director of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission says that may be a sign of a healthier state economy.

The number of new jobless claims in the state was 2,179 for the week ending Feb. 28, down 521 from the week before, said MESC director Jan Garrick. That's also down 430 claims from a year ago.

The decline continues a trend that has seen fewer new claims each week since the beginning of the year, with the exception of one week, she said.

"That is a very positive indicator," Garrick said Thursday. "That's one of the factors by which the health of the economy is judged."

The total number of unemployment claims, including recurring ones, was 23,362 for the week.

Garrick said the drop in claims may be an indicator that new jobs are being created and that employers that had laid off workers are rehiring. But officials will not be able to determine whether there have job additions until state unemployment figures are released last week.

"When we see those numbers, we will have a better idea of where they're coming from," Garrick said.

Mississippi also saw fewer layoffs of 50 or more workers in 2003. There were 31 "mass layoffs" last year, compared to 42 the year before, according to the MESC.

Last year, 1,240,300 Mississippians had jobs, compared to 1,209,800 in 2002.

Nationally, the number of people filing new claims dropped by 7,000 to 345,000 for the week ending Feb. 28. A Federal Reserve survey released Wednesday said employment was growing slowly in most regions, and Chairman Alan Greenspan said he believed job growth should speed up.

Two new firefighters join Bay department

Bay Saint Louis Fire Department has added two new firefighters, Bill Schaff and Nicky Lee, both with prior training and experience. Schaff received most of his training through the Louisiana Fire Academy and Lee from the Mississippi Fire Academy.

Both men served as part-time firefighters with Bay Saint Louis until full-time positions became available. Both also serve with the Picayune fire department.

"Nicky does have special training that is elective for firefighters, certification as a smoke diver. Simply put, in this course firefighters spend very long periods of time working with their air pack in the Academy's heat building. It is one of the more physically demanding and high-risk courses offered at the Mississippi Fire Academy. His expertise could certainly benefit this department in a major fire, similar to the Brennan home fire where there were several roofs involved and firefighters worked intense heat for long periods," said Chief Robert Gavagnie.

View from the bridge

Views From a Front Porch

by Paul Estronza
La Violette

We were coming back from Gulfport on I-10. Stella was driving; I was leaning against the passenger seat's headrest, half dozing. We had been shopping for much of the afternoon and we were both tired, anxious to get home. I could see the Diamondhead overpass ahead of us in the distance; we would be home in about ten minutes. I closed my eyes.

"Oh, no!"

It was Stella. I opened my eyes. There was a line of traffic building up toward us; red taillights blooming as each car braked. Far ahead there was an array of yellow cones cutting off one side of the two lanes and we were passing signs indicating one-lane traffic a half mile ahead near the Diamondhead overpass.

"It must have just started. There was no traffic a few minutes ago. Now look at it."

I could see the cars were starting to move again, but very slowly. In moments we were in the line of one-lane traffic moving at twenty miles an hour. Alongside the road, men were hurrying forward with more cones. As we passed under the overpass, a police car, its red lights flashing, blocked the down ramp traffic. A work truck hurried to some point ahead of us where I could see men waiting.

"Paul! It's the new bridge! They're opening it! We're going to go over it."

And so we were. And what was nice, we were going over it at a speed that we would probably never be able to again, 20 miles an hour.

It was great!

Stella and I both forgot being tired and looked around us. The workmen, hustling along to do whatever they were doing, waved back at someone in one of the cars ahead of us and I heard a horn honk, then another. It was suddenly very festive.

On the eastbound lane on the span to our left, the traffic ran by at a more normal speed of seventy miles an hour. That span had been open for several

Lost Communities OF HANCOCK COUNTY

Siblings remember the Way It Was

In late October of 1961 then Mayor John A. Scafide was called for comment by a Memphis paper.

It was at that moment that Hancock County had its first inkling that the United States Government planned to take 36 percent of the county's land by eminent domain to build a new space center and rocket testing facility in Western Hancock County.

Within days a suit had been filed in U.S. District Court in Biloxi against Hancock and Pearl River Counties and "unknown owners" to acquire about 120,000 acres of land for the facility.

At that time Harlan G. "Boogie" Dean and his sister Verna Steele lived in Pearlinton. Two of the nine children of Thomas and Emma Dean, Boogie was the "baby" boy and Verna was the "baby" girl, Miss Verna said. Miss Verna is the mother of one boy and has two grandchildren. Her grandson is

Kim's Mophead proves name is unimportant

Kim's Mop Head (white coneflower), Kim's Knee High (purple coneflower) and Little Boy phlox make a nice companion planting in this perennial garden.

Southern Gardening

by Norman Winter
MSU Horticulturist

My imagination runs wild when I think about a white coneflower I saw last summer. I can picture a man saying, "Honey, I got a new white coneflower and I am going to name it after you -- Kim's Mophead."

I suppose it didn't happen that way, but it sure would be fun to think so. If so, that was probably the last flower he named -- right after Kim's Knee High, a more traditional but shorter purple coneflower.

Despite the references to bad hair days and stockings, purple coneflowers are really great perennials for the South, and we are very close to planting season.

Early spring is my favorite time to plant purple coneflowers, known botanically as Echinacea. Select a healthy, growing transplant in a 4-inch container for the best chance at success. These small plants without buds are still producing roots and green leaves and will be happy in your garden. The same is true for rudbeckias, Shasta daisies and coreopsis.

Ride 'em cowboys!

St. Paul's Fr. Dennis and Mops take time to visit the Wild West Round-Up.

The Preschool at St. Paul Catholic School enjoyed outside activities as they wrap up their Wild West unit. The three and four year olds rode their hobby horses, explored the teepees, the stockade, went digging for gold, and cooked up some good vittles over the "campfire." As part of Catholic Schools Week, all students were granted a Free Dress Day and the preschoolers were decked out in their cowboy finery. For two weeks these young buckaroos decorated cowboy boots, made "Wanted" posters, sheriff stars, bolo ties and bandannas. They learned about the cowboys, way of life, his faithful friend the horse, the cattle they cared for and a little about the American Indians too.

Stennisphere's Astro Camp Saturday to Blast off on Mission to Mars

The next space mission at Stennisphere's Astro Camp Saturday will be "Mission to Mars" on March 20.

The theme reflects the mission of NASA's twin rovers, which launched last summer and landed on the surface of Mars in 2004 to search for signs of past water activity.

In this session of the popular space camp, children ages 9-12 will build their own model rockets for a make-believe trip to Mars.

"Astro Camp crewmembers will design, build and test a model rocket based on the principles that would be used to build a rocket suitable for a mission to Mars," said Maria Lott, Astro Camp Saturday director. "Campers will learn all the exciting details of planning a trip to Mars - how far they would travel, how long it would take, what supplies they would need and how to survive in the Martian environment." The camp will end with the launch of real rockets campers build themselves.

The camp takes place from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Stennisphere, the visitor center at NASA Stennis Space Center, America's largest rocket test complex.

The cost is $50 and includes lunch in the Rockateria and all supplies. Campers begin their Mars mission at the Launch Pad, located at the Hancock County Welcome Center, I-10, Exit 2.

Lenten Dinners served at St. Clare

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Lent is a period of 40 days in which the faithful prepare for the great celebration of Christ's Resurrection, Easter.

On Fridays during Lent, it is a Catholic tradition and obligation to abstain from eating meat.

This Lenten season, meals will be offered on Friday evenings by St. Clare Church and School. Even though the dinners are being offered as a social event, Jesus, ministry often included the sharing of a meal. The purpose of the meals is not merely a fund raising event; rather the goal is to bring the parish family and the surrounding communities together for the sharing of a meal.

New history project gives veterans a voice for posterity

THE SEA COAST ECHO

All South Mississippi combat veterans are invited to share their stories as part of a new large-scale history project. These first-hand accounts will be heard and seen each week across the Coast through a new program called the Veterans History Project. The program will air on WLOX news in partnership with Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and sponsored by Chevron-Texaco and Keesler Federal Credit Union.

The Veteran's History project will be officially launched March 9 at 7:30 a.m. on the college's Jefferson Davis Campus in the Arena Theatre. Coast combat veterans are invited to come for an informational breakfast and find out more about a massive, local effort to record and preserve their stories.

Dr. Willis Lott, Gulf Coast president, says its privilege for the college to be a part of the project.

"These powerful, personal testimonies are vanishing voices. Many of our veterans have not even shared their experiences with family members. The news broadcast component of the project is giving our generation, and generations to come, a vivid and compelling account of war-time experiences," Lott said.

The benefits of the project will last far longer than an evening newscast, says Dave Vincent, WLOX's

News Director/Station Manager.

"I don't think we could be involved in a more important project than 'The Veterans History Project.' The Coast is home to thousands of veterans who have rich stories about the contributions they made to our society. It is exciting to be involved with other wonderful sponsors," Vincent said.

This project comes at a critical time for U.S. veterans. There are 19 million war veterans living in the United States today, but every day 1,700 are lost along with their memories and living histories.

Vet's Administration seeking former Prisoners of War in MS

The Veteran's Administration effort to contact former POWs who may not be aware of changes to - and expansion of - benefits affecting them. VA recently mailed information about these benefits to about 4,700 former POWs not on the department's rolls. There could be as many as 11,000 more former POWs for whom we do not have an address.

Former POWs who don't receive VA services are mostly from WWII. We need to reach them while they are still able to avail themselves of VA programs and benefits.

VA has expanded its programs to cover new illnesses found to be related to captivity. Cirrhosis of the liver was recently added to the list of diseases presumed to be associated with captivity. New policies make it easier for former POWs to obtain compensation if they were detained for 30 days or more and develop other illnesses.

Additionally, former POWs have a special eligibility for enrollment in VA medical care and are exempt from making CO-payments for inpatient and outpatient visits.

VA is asking all Americans who know a former POW to spread the word that benefits and services may be just a phone call away. Regional Office, Jackson, Mississippi 1-800-827-1000, VA Hospital, Biloxi, Mississippi (228) 523-5000, CVSO: (228) 467-2100. ## Siblings serving in the United States Army in Baghdad. Boogie is the father of four children.

Boogie served as the first elected Hancock County Constable and three terms as county supervisor. He was first elected supervisor in 1962 in the midst of the relocation efforts by the Space Center.

During Boogie's term of office natural gas and telephone service came into the Pearlinton area. Until that time a man in Logtown, Arthur Marshall, was handling the antiquated phone exchange for the area from his home — switchboard and all. Boogie also appointed Leo Ward to the hospital board during his term of office.

Thomas and Emma met in Gainesville, where she had come from Coldwater to teach school. The couple was married in Gainesville and later moved to Pearlinton. Thomas was the postmaster in Pearlinton, said Miss Verna, and had to carry the mail to the river where it went by boat to English Lookout. He was accompanied on his travels by a German Shepherd dog who carried the mail pouch for Thomas.

"If anyone wanted to go to New Orleans they had to go to the boat to English Lookout and catch the train," said Miss Verna. "It was during prohibition and everyone who wanted to go to a bar room had to go to one across the river in Louisiana."

Everyone walked where they wanted to go, she said, no one had automobiles.

"But I think we were happier then," she said. "We'd go to the picture show or church and play out under an Oak tree and make mud pies and play mama and papa with broken dishes ... some of the time we'd play in an empty house, but most of the time we'd get under a tree."

All nine of the Dean children were born at home, Miss Verna said. Dr. J. Q. Fountain was the family doctor. The children walked to school at the old Logtown School, about a three mile trip. Boogie rode his horse, she said.

Three term Supervisor Halan G. "Boogie" Dean saw natural gas and a modern telephone system come to West Hancock County. He also served as Constable.

Everyone in Pearlinton went to the United Methodist Church, she said, the only church in town and so "we all went there."

Thomas also ran a grocery store, T.A. General Merchandise, in the same building as the post office, in the recent location of the Cuevas Grocery. When Thomas became ill, Emma took over the post office and ran it till she retired, Miss Verna said.

"When dad got sick he sold the store to my oldest sister (Ernestine Davis), and then she sold it to Mr. Woods in Belle Isles, and then he died and his wife sold the store to Ronnie Cuevas," she said.

Since the beginning the store had a tradition as a gathering place for people in the community.

"My daddy had a little TV and everyone would gather around the pot bellied stove and watch the TV," she said. "Off and on all the kids would help out in the store."

The family was close with the older kids looking after the younger ones. Large family dinners were a tradition.

shooting off fireworks, she said.

"There wasn't much crime, not like there is now, and everyone knew one another, now days you don't even know your own neighbor ... then, we pulled together as a team," she said.

"I remember when they announced they were going to take Logtown and the Buffer Zone," said Miss Verna. "There was a lot of talk and the only talk I know of was bad. They discussed the price offered for the land and no one was satisfied and some held back, and those that held back got a little better price. Some came here and some went to Picayune and Bay St. Louis."

Boogie was at the Logtown School athletic field along with virtually every resident, official and civic leader from the affected areas, when Senator Stennis and the Corps of Engineers came to tell the community why it was a good idea for them to give up their homes and land. An

We went to dances and to Mardi Gras in New Orleans, had Easter Egg hunts. They visited friends in Westonia and slipped off to the river to swim.

"Mama would say don't go to the river and we would slip off to the river and go swimming and nearly drown ... in fact Leo Ward pulled me out one day by the top of my head," Miss Verna said.

For the most part Miss Verna remembers that most everybody got along, except on occasion when they were running for office against one another.

At Christmas she remembers black choirs coming to sing at the house at night and her daddy serving everyone eggnog. Thomas also loved going to the circus and address by Stennis was followed by a two hour question and answer session in the boiling hot sun, in which residents of the fee area (primarily the town of Gainesville) learned they would have to move within six months.

"They announced it and there wasn't too much we could do about it," said Boogie. "The Supervisors had some idea a little before the people ... they said the buildings would shake and shimmer and it never was like that, bad like they said it would be ... they scared people and told them a lot of stories but it never was like they said it would be."

"People complained about having to move but they complained when their sink stopped up too."

months and its newness had long since disappeared to the drivers on it. In an hour, probably less, the traffic lanes where we were would speed up despite the one lane and the drivers would miss the current freshness of the opening.

As we moved up to the bridges peak, I was amazed to see the panoramic view of the Jordan River that unfolded from the height of the span. The soft coloring of yellow grasses and dark pines outlined the broad curving stretches of dark mirroring water. It was wonderful display of what was in essence the ambiance of our coast.

In moments we were beyond the bridge, turning down the ramp to go left on 603, then along Nicholson and, very shortly after, home. In short, we had had a very pleasant ending to our long shopping day.

But there is more to it than that.

I have traveled the eastbound route over the other bridge several times since and from it have seen the southern parts of the Jordan, the marsh, and the Bay of St Louis; all as well displayed as the waters from the northern span. Although I think I like the northern view best, it seems that even at highway speed, the views from either span is impressive.

I think we have something there, something we would be wise to somehow use to our advantage. I'm not sure what, but something should be done. The views provided by I-10's twin spans are unique. There is nothing like it on the Coast.

Think about it. The Henderson Point high rise is of a similar height to that of the I-10 spans and should provide a similarly lovely view of the Sound and the Bay, but it doesn't. All one sees when driving east over the span is a large amount of sky.

Going west, the view is mostly trees and more sky. And, oh yes, in both directions the view contains a lot of guardrail. An awful lot.

This guardrail bit is not limited to just Henderson Point's span. It seems that today's designers of bridges have carefully examined automobiles and have ruled that bridge guardrails must be of the exact height to completely block any view of whatever is being crossed.

I'm not sure why they do this. Maybe it's some mistaken interest in safety, sort of a "don't distract the driver," type thing. A rule that was probably instigated by the same prune faces that gave us, "don't run with scissors," and "be careful around moving machinery." Whatever it is, it seems the guard rail has been made at a perfect height to destroy the view.

In designing our new I-10 spans, there seemed to be in the designers an desire to radically break away from this limited thought.

They have, bless them, lowered the height of the guardrails. Not by much, certainly less than a foot, but enough.

And so, anyone crossing either way on these new spans is provided a sharply different view from the other I-10 bridges. It's a view that's even nicer at the right time of day. A view that sometimes shouts in riotous colors and sometimes whispers in soft pastel tones.

"Welcome to the beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast."

Gardening

Choose a site in full sun for best flower performance. I assume many of you have soil like mine that takes a small stick of dynamite or a jackhammer to break apart. We can assist the happiness of the plants greatly by incorporating 3 to 4 inches of organic matter and tilling it in.

While tilling, go ahead and work in 2 pounds of a slow-release, 12-6-6 fertilizer per 100 square feet of bed space. Space your plants about 2 feet apart. A teardrop-shaped drift will look awesome once they are blooming.

Rudbeckias, coreopsis, Shasta daisies, salvias and angelonias make nice companion plants. Buddleias and lantanas also combine well.

Try purple coneflowers with purple fountain grass or some of the miscanthus for a real showy display. If your garden club members see this, they will think you went to some specialized training program during your vacation.

Often you find the purple coneflower sold generically, but the Perennial Plant Association named Magnus purple coneflower as its Perennial-Plant of the Year in 1998. Magnus was selected for its vibrant, rose-purple flowers and is a real winner in the garden. Its petals remain horizontal rather than drooping toward the ground.

Bravado is another variety that you may want to try. I am much impressed with this selection that has large 4- to 5-inch flowers with a wonderful fragrance, particularly in the morning.

But you may really want to try Kim's Knee High, which is a dwarf compared to Bravado and Magnus, hitting right around knee high in height.

Despite the terrible name, Kim's Mophead is a doggone good white selection.

Landscapes dedicated to wildlife will benefit from coneflowers, which attract butterflies like the Painted Lady and birds that eat their seeds.

Purple coneflowers are also great as cut flowers. If you let one get past its prime, simply pick the petals off and use the brown cone in the vase. Don't throw the arrangement away when you're finished. Let the flowers dry completely and then scatter the seeds around for a denser planting.

I try to preach patience when growing perennials and roses -- they get better with a little age. The same is true with purple coneflowers: more flowers are produced in the second and third years.

Purple coneflowers are perennials with clumps that can be divided in the fall if necessary. This may not need to be done for three or more years. It also can be propagated from its own seed.

After you grow purple or white coneflowers for a few years, you will wonder how someone could name such a pretty flower a mophead. At least they didn't stick the word "weed" on the end of it!

Meeting scheduled for Pearl River Watershed study

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The process to evaluate flood control plans for Pearl River Watershed will continue March 11, 2004, at 6 p.m., in the auditorium of the Bolton State Office Building at 1141 Bayview Ave. in Biloxi, when the Army Corps of Engineers conducts an information meeting for the study. The formal scoping meeting for the study was conducted in Jackson on February 23, 2004.

The comment period for this process will remain open through March 24, 2004. The $2.8-million, two and one-half year study resumption is being cost shared equally between the Corps' Vicksburg District and the Rankin-Hinds Pearl River Flood and Drainage Control District, the non-Federal sponsor.

The purpose of the meeting is to provide information on the study to interested groups and individuals and to identify the significant environmental issues that need to be addressed during the study, by giving the public and private and local entities the opportunity to speak and provide input. Affected Federal, state, and local agencies, Indian Tribes, and other interested persons have been invited to participate and provide input into the study process. For more information about the meeting location, contact the DMR at (228)374-5022, ext. 5254.

Tax incentives through Lent

Every state in the union of the United States of America has the same problem: prohibitive, skyrocketing health costs on an unprecedented, massive scale not dreamed of just a few years ago. And every state is scampering, thrusting in all directions, trying to find elusive finances.

Truth to tell, the whole venture of health care is a losing proposition which promises never to be economical and, at best, barely tolerable in its cost/price analysis. In other words, the prospects are very gloomy indeed.

In the absence of adequate funding, slashing health benefits is always the first recourse of legislators, albeit a very bitter pill to the entire community.

But what to do when health care creates a half-billion-dollar budget deficit?

And now, Lent to the rescue. All of us know what Lent stands for, and we are astounded at what a little spiritual motivation can do for the worst of us.

Even some of the most addicted, for instance, manage to abstain from alcohol or cigarettes for the duration of the Lenten season.

It is a pretty safe educated guess that the abstinence and careful eating practiced by the majority of people during Lent makes a measurable dent in the cost of health care around this whole country. It stands to reason that we are less sick and more blessed with wellness when we avoid consuming slop.

If we can agree on that much, can we get together on a projection of Lent into much, if not most, of the entire year? In a word, that means trying to abstain and moderate our eating habits far beyond Lent into the year at large.

We are under no illusions about how difficult it is for most people to discipline themselves in food and drink, even during Lent. So, how can we get them to tear themselves away from their favorites all year long?

We would have to bribe them, of course. We would have to make abstinence from certain foods and Spartan moderation in others attractive enough to be worth their discipline and effort. What kind of bribe could possibly motivate people to tear themselves away from their beloved foods?

How about a bounty for a good blood pressure reading which is sustained for the period of a year? Without medication, of course. Abstinence from the most cholesterol-strapped animal products will achieve this within weeks.

And how about another hearty reward for a good reading of one's sugar level which is sustained for a year? Again, without medication, such a level can be achieved in several weeks by abstaining from animal products.

A hefty stipend for keeping one's weight at the lean level

Reflections on Life
by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

One of the largest bounties would have to be made for those people who promote healthy hearts by not eating animal products laced with salt, sugar and fats, while taking special pains to exercise vigorously and frequently.

For those who can prove they are allergy-free, we might offer a premium big enough to keep them away from allergy-causing products such as milk products, chocolate (for many people), most meats and all shellfish.

Admittedly, sizable bonuses would have to be offered to lure some folks away from their treasured shrimp or oyster po-boys and other seafood gems which are part and parcel of everyday life and enjoyment, especially in port cities or locales blessed by abundant salt and fresh water arteries.

So where would all this lead to with regard to the prohibitive expenses of health care for our fellow countrymen? If the price/bounty/bonus is right, it could change the whole landscape of health care. The properly calculated bribes might readily induce most people into becoming quite healthy.

The economic relief and impact would be incredibly far-reaching and huge.

Yes, it would take considerable sums of money to make abstinence and food control bearable, but the monetary return in decreased sickness, medicine and hospital time would be exponential.

Just ponder for a moment the enormous expenses incurred by victims of lung and other cancers, by victims of diabetes, hypertension and the various forms of heart disease. This is a multi-billion-dollar adventure in suffering.

It is no accident that people who pursue a food regimen low in cholesterol and plaque-forming agents, together with a good exercise program, are very seldom ill, take virtually no pills, and require hardly any medical attention.

Devising the desirable formula for giving personal rewards for being healthy would take some doing, but it would be more than worth the trouble.

Thus, the discipline of Lent could become our greatest hero in the expensive field of health care, if we but extend the abstinence and food control beyond the borders of Lent into our routine, everyday life.

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

Could it be when Jesus was in the "Garden of Gethsemane" His thoughts were about you?

"You may not know me, but I know everything about you." Psalms 139:1

I know when you sit down and when you rise up. Even the very hair in your head are numbered.

For you were made in my image, for you are my offspring. I knew you even before you were conceived. I chose you when I planned creation, you were not mistake.

For all your days are written in my book. I determined the exact time of your birth and where you would live. Acts 17:26

You were fearfully and wonderfully made. Psalms 139:14. I knit you together in your mother's womb

Psalms 139:13.

My plan for your future has always been filled with hope. Because I love you with an everlasting love. Jer. 31:3

Jesus died so that you and I could be reconciled. His death was the ultimate expression of His love for us.

Our Heavenly Father says: If you receive the gift of my son Jesus you receive me. I John 2:29 and nothing will ever separate you from my love again.

When Jesus was taken and arrested; He could have easily called for a legend of angles to set Him free. He chose not to.

The scouring and the Roman Cross awaited Him. He knew many would disregard His love and His reconcile life for them.

But He remembers all of us.

The "Word" for the Week
Christ is Lord

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Who is in control of your life? "Well, I'm basically in control of my life. In fact, I'd say I've got things put together pretty well."

Isn't this a typical answer? But that's the problem. It's too typical. As human beings, we often think too highly of ourselves.

In reality, we think too highly of ourselves to the exclusion of God. In talking about people who often exclude God from their thinking, the Bible says, "Professing to be wise, they became fools and exchanged the glory of the incorruptible God for an image in the form of corruptible man ... [They] worshipped and served the creature rather than the Creator" (Romans 1:22, 23, & 25).

It is foolish to exclude God from our thinking. When we do, we become very self-centered. We indulge in a kind of self-worship. This is a violation of the very first of God's Ten Commandments, "You shall have no other gods before Me" (Exodus 20:3).

You may even consider yourself a Christian. But your life contradicts the very First Commandment. The solution is to return to God. This means turning to Christ. Jesus said, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but through Me" (John 14:6).

So you need to turn to Christ. You need to accept Christ as the Lord over your life. You need to begin to live for Christ. You see, the basic confession of the true Christian is that Jesus Christ is Lord! "If you confess with your mouth Jesus as Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised Him from the dead, you shall be saved" (Romans 10:9).

John Barry to kick off 'Authors & Characters' series at Library

THE SEA COAST ECHO
New York Times best-selling author and award-winning historian John M. Barry will kick off the Authors & Characters @ Your Library series at a book signing Wednesday, March 10, at 6:00 p.m. in the Seal Room of the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. Sponsored by the Library Foundation of Hancock County and Bookends Bookstore, the program will follow at 7:00 p.m.

The Authors & Characters @ Your Library series features local authors and characters - anyone with a story to tell.

Barry's newest book, The Great Influenza: The Epic Story of the Deadliest Plague in History, will be available for purchase, along with Rising Tide: The Great Mississippi Flood of 1927 and How It Changed America and Power Plays: Politics, Football and Other Blood Sports.

The Great Influenza: The Epic Story of the Deadliest Plague in History tells the story of the 1918 influenza pandemic. Even the most conservative estimates reveal the death toll of 21 million. The plague killed more people in 24 weeks than AIDS has killed in the 24 years. The book probes the ghastly outbreak in a work that is authoritative in its research. It is the story of how some of the greatest scientists America has ever produced confronted this disease, and of how the work they performed led to one of the most important discoveries of the 20th century.

Rising Tide: The Great Mississippi Flood of 1927 traces the history of the nation's most destructive natural disaster. In this book, Barry explains how ineptitude and greed helped cause the flood, and how the policies created to deal with the disaster changed the culture of the Mississippi Delta. An absorbing account of a little known, yet monumental event in American history, Rising Tide reveals how human behavior proved more destructive than the river itself. Rising Tide was a New York Times Notable Book, and won the Society of American Historians' Francis Parkman Prize as the year's best book of American history, the Southern Book Critics Circle Award, the Lillian Smith Award and many other prizes.

In a somewhat different take on politics, Power and Plays: Politics, Football and Other Blood Sports, interweaves the rise and fall of two powerful House leaders with true stories from the sports world. The contrast allows Barry, a former college football coach, journalist, and editor, to illustrate the similarities and differences between these two arenas, where "powerful" people compete and where winning and losing have tangible consequences.

John M. Barry grew up in Providence, RI, graduated from Brown University and did graduate work in history at the University of Rochester. After leaving graduate school, he became a football coach. His first published work appeared in Scholastic Coach and shortly thereafter in Sports Illustrated. He has also written for The Washington Post, Newsweek, Esquire, The New York Times, Sunday Magazine and other national publications. Today, Barry is a distinguished Visiting Scholar at the Center for Bioenvironmental Research of Tulane and Xavier Universities, and lives in New Orleans and Washington, D.C.

Telecom

Choosing your wireless communication can be so confusing. What company do I go with, what plan is best for me, which phone best suits my needs and where do I go to activate my service? With so many questions, it is no wonder why consumers can get confused and frustrated about wireless communications. Fortunately, there is a business in town that clarifies all these questions and makes choosing your wireless communication easy and convenient.

Even if you have bad credit or no credit, Telecom has a plan for you. Telecom now carries Alltel and AT&T prepaid. No credit check, no deposits, no contract, just pay as you go, month to month to month. Telecom has prepaid plans through AT&T with unlimited weekend minutes starting as low as $39.99 per month. Or try Alltel prepaid plan that offers 1,000 night and weekend minutes for as low as $24.95 per month.

Telecom also offers a wide selection of accessories to suit your individual needs. They have the largest selection of accessories in our area and most are $10.00 or less.

Kathy Mioton, manager is so friendly and knowledgeable and can help you choose the plan best suited to your own personal or business needs.

One of their most popular plans is through Alltel. Receive a free Motorola 120e phone with a 1 year agreement after a $25.00 mail in rebate or if you sign a 2 year agreement, you will receive a free phone and $25.00 cash after mail in rebate with 1,000 anytime minutes, unlimited nights and weekends and unlimited mobile to mobile for only $39.95.

Another popular plan is through Cingular, no roaming, no long distance charges with rollover minutes, nationwide mobile to mobile, 5,500 minutes for only $55.

No matter what you needs, you can count on Kathy Mioton at Telecom to put you in the right plan to make your life simpler. After all, isn't that what wireless communications is all about. For more information please call Kathy at 463-9997.

'Talk About' Haiti with photographer Richard Kay

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The community is invited to Talk About ... "The wonder of Haiti" with photographer Richard Kay on Wednesday, March 10th at 7pm. at Da Beach House, located at 604 South Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis. For additional information contact Da Beach House at 467-9477.

Richard Kay's interest in Haiti began in earnest when he discovered that both he and his wife had roots there. His love affair with the country began with a five-day visit to Port-au-Prince in 1997 with his son. State Department advisories had them prepared to be beaten and robbed at every turn, but instead they were greeted with the friendship, generosity and hospitality of the Haitian people. He will be making his tenth trip to Haiti this February. His longest visit has been as a five-month Peace Corps volunteer in Akaye and Wanament. Presently he volunteers in Lavale de Jacmel with the Haitian Association for Human Development. When he is not at a school or the hospital, you probably would not be able to find him. He'll be off the roads on the trails taking photographs, having coffee with peasants and taking his meals with friends has made over the years. He might also somewhere else in the country traveling on small planes, mules, buses or trucks with his camera. He generally overnights with Haitian families.

Because the subjects of Richard's photographs are generally the people he lives with, or families he has known for some time, he feels that his photographs show a sensitivity and intimacy with a nation of strong and resilient people doing their best with very little. He says that he goes to Haiti to teach, but instead he learns, and that he goes to Haiti to give, but instead he receives. He strives to show that through his work.

'The Majesty of Eastern Mississippi and The Coast'

BY GARY SHUTE

After Jackson attorney, author and historian Jim Fraiser recently produced two impressive books about the history, culture and architecture of the Deep South—The Majesty of the Mississippi Delta (2002) and The French Quarter of New Orleans (2003), I wondered what he would do for an encore. I didn't have to wait very long to find out. Fraiser's latest offering, The Majesty of Eastern Mississippi and The Coast, is a delightful treatment of the architectural styles and historical significance of private homes and public structures in Jackson, eastern Mississippi and the gulf coast. And as with all of New Orleans publisher Pelican's Majesty series, this book also offers beautiful color photos of those structures, thanks to the work of award-winning Clarion-Ledger photographer Rick Guy.

Fraiser tells us everything we wanted to know about famous Jackson landmarks such as the remaining antebellum mansions lining North State Street, the house where Eudora Welty wrote her best stories, St. Andrew's Cathedral, the Manship House and the Governor's Mansion. And Guy's photos of these structures' interiors and exteriors are nothing short of breathtaking. The same could be said of Fraiser's and Guy's coverage of the great mansions of Columbus, Oxford, Biloxi, Hattiesburg and of Old Waverly at West Point. If you love Civil War history, explanations of the various architectural styles of Mississippi buildings, uncovering lives of extraordinary Mississippians, and peeking inside the lovely homes of wealthy Mississippi families, you'll find The Majesty of Eastern Mississippi and The Coast to be the perfect tour companion or armchair read.

Once more, Fraiser offers many interesting and arcane facts, such as that the Stephen D. Lee home in Columbus served as both Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest's Civil War headquarters and as a post-Civil War residence of another Confederate general who later served as the first president of Mississippi State. Fraiser also provides numerous architectural details of each structure, but delivers them in a lyrical and dramatic style that makes architecture interesting even to the layperson. "Exceedingly stylish for a ten-story behemoth," Fraiser writes of downtown Jackson's Lamar Life Building, "this structure features numerous Gothic motifs such as a high crenellated clock tower and somber gargoyles resting upon upper story precipices...." Of course, Fraiser's text is greatly enhanced by Guy's photography, which reveals each structure's architectural details in richly hued images.

However, I particularly appreciated this book's coverage of the lovely but heretofore unexplored homes in the smaller coastal towns of Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian, and Ocean Springs. Why no previous author/photographer combo has focused upon the quirky histories of these sleepy beachfront towns, or displayed color photos of their magnificent French, Spanish and antebellum structures is truly a mystery to me, but Fraiser and Guy do it in a splendid, enjoyable fashion.

True, Fraiser's text lacks the literary quotes which jazzed up his Majesty book about the Delta, and some of Guy's perspectives, especially of homes in Laurel and Tupelo, are plagued by shadows and diminished by trees blocking the houses. But even with these mis-cues, The Majesty of Eastern Mississippi and The Coast is another sure-fire winner for author Fraiser and photographer Guy, who have once again presented Mississippi, its history, culture and legendary structures, in a much-deserved glowing light.

Fraiser will sign his book at Bookends in Bay St. Louis this Saturday, March 13 from 1-3 p.m.

Celebrity Scoop

Johnathon Schaech

Checking in with Johnathon Schaech

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Not only did Johnathon Schaech's latest project pose an acting challenge, it also gave him an extra dose of religion.

The co-star of movies such as "That Thing You Do!" has the title role in "Judas," which ABC is billing as an "interpretive dramatization." Premiering Monday, March 8, "Judas" is the last production overseen by the late Father Ellwood "Bud" Kieser. The teleplay is by television veteran Tom Fontana ("Oz," "Homicide: Life on the Street"), who has given the biblical story a modern perspective.

Judas observes the miracles caused by Jesus (Jonathan Scarfe) and becomes a devout disciple. Later, he develops doubts and colludes with former enemy Caiaphas (Bob Gunton), who suspects Jesus is readying the Jews to battle the Romans. Thus is born the legendary betrayal that made Judas synonymous with "traitor."

Schaech spent two months on location in Morocco, where TNT also had filmed several biblical tales. "I saw all the posters and sets for those," Schaech says. "The thing that fueled me more than anything else was shooting on the same sets used for 'Gladiator.' Our 'Judas' is much more contemporary. It's not approached like a biblical epic, like Franco Zeffirelli's 'Jesus of Nazareth.' This is more reachable."

While Schaech agrees that "Judas" deals with "a serious topic," he adds, "Some parts have a little fun with it all. Some of the things Pilate (played by Tim Matheson) says make you want to laugh out loud." Still, Schaech is glad "Judas" also maintains the reverence Father Kieser would have wanted. "This movie was one of his last wishes, I guess you could say."

Birthdate: Sept. 10, 1969.
Birthplace: Edgewood, Md.
Marital status: Wed to actress Christina Applegate.
Other TV work: "Houdini," "Time of Your Life," "Blood Crime," "They Shoot Divas, Don't They?," "Partners," "The Outer Limits," "Models Inc.," "The Adventures of Brisco County Jr."

Other movie work: "How to Make an American Quilt," "The Doom Generation," "Poison Ivy II," "Invasion of Privacy," "Welcome to Woop Woop," "Hush," "Finding Graceland," "If You Only Knew," "Splendor," "After Sex," "Woundings," "The Forsaken," "Sol Goode," "The Sweetest Thing."

Featured A prime-time comedy about games

By Ryan Clouse
© Zap2it

Raising a family is hard work. Raising a family in a world filled with monsters, ninjas and anime exchange students is even harder.

In the new CGI comedy "Game Over," premiering Wednesday, March 10, on UPN, Rip and Raquel Smashenburn (voices of Patrick Warburton and Lucy Liu) struggle to raise a family and succeed in their respective careers as a Grand Prix race-car driver and a monster-bashing secret agent. This balancing act is only made more difficult by cynical daughter Alice (voice of Rachel Drach), hip-hop wannabe son Billy (voice of E.G. Daily) and a 300-pound foul-mouthed monster who smokes and drinks.

The family lives in a constant state of turmoil against a video game backdrop. Raquel attempts to console her daughter on a cell phone while trying to find treasure in an ancient burial site. Conversations in the car between father and son happen at 150 mph. The animation is of "Shrek" quality, while the humor is akin to that of "The Simpsons" or "The Family Guy."

With cameos from characters in games, including Grand Theft Auto, Mario and Crash Bandicoot, "Game Over" easily will be enjoyed by viewers who are into the gaming scene. But even those who've never picked up a control pad will appreciate its great voice talent, as well as humor and visuals geared toward a more mature audience.

Fans of the show may want to check out the following games likely to be found on the Smashenburns' shelves: Feeling the need for speed like Rip? Try Grand Turismo 3; Project Gotham Racing 2; and Need for Speed Underground.

Itching to kick butt like Raquel? Try Halo; Tom Clancy's Splinter Cell; and Beyond Good & Evil.

Horoscope This Week

By Caroline James - Zap2it

Aries (March 21 - April 20)
You'll be ready to talk about what you love the most - yourself. Be careful not to annoy people around you with your self-love fest.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)
You might feel like revealing past thoughts and dreams to people close to you in order to understand yourself better.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)
Friends and associates will be charmed by your wit, and you'll have a good time painting the town red with new acquaintances.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)
Travel related to your job might be an issue this week, and you might start looking at a career change. It's high time you marketed yourself.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)
A short trip will do you good. You might start scouting out locations for a big event you will be planning in the near future.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)
A quick signature on a document that seals your future with a partner might seem like an OK move, but be sure you know what you are doing.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
You could have a talk with a partner about your future together, and it'll calm your nerves about the whole situation.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)
You'll have a desire to become a healthier person, but you'll have a scattered sense of how to do so. Seek guidance if you can't do it on your own.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)
Children will be your joy right now, and they could give you the insight you need to come to terms with a tough decision.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)
Purchases for your home might include small electric gadgets that will make chores much easier for you and anyone living with you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Communication will be your strong suit this week, and everyone around you will understand your words of wisdom.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)
You'll want to buy something small and expensive, but you might not be able to afford it. Wait a few months on this one.

Cover Story

'Wonderfalls' offers a torrent of wit/pleasure

By John Crook
© Zap2it

If you thought Joan of Arcadia was testy, wait until you meet Jaye of Niagara Falls.

In the wonderful "Wonderfalls," the fresh and instantly addictive comedy-fantasy series Fox is finally rolling out starting Friday, March 12, Jaye Tyler (Caroline Dhavernas) is, like the title character in CBS's "Joan of Arcadia," a disaffected young woman who finds herself the reluctant focal point of something greater than herself.

Jaye is no dummy - she graduated from Brown with a degree in philosophy, after all - yet she feels like an oddball among the rest of her family of aggressive overachievers.

Karen (Diana Scarwid, "Mommie Dearest"), Jaye's mom, is a best-selling author of travel books such as "Thumbing Through the Finger Lakes"; Darrin (Bill Sadler), her dad, is a successful physician; Sharon, her older sister (Katie Finneran, "Bram and Alice"), is a respected immigration lawyer; brother Aaron (Lee Pace, "Soldier's Girl"), is the youngest non-Asian to win the prestigious Fulton Scholarship for religious studies and is, when we meet him, pursuing his doctorate in comparative religion (although he isn't sure he believes in God).

Jaye, on the other hand, has put herself in the "expectation-free zone" of Wonderfalls, the tourist gift shop in which she works, free to wallow in bitter boredom. That's when the animals start talking to her.

It starts with a tiny plastic lion from a vending machine, but soon Jaye is getting messages from stuffed animals, critters on logos, you name it. And when Jaye follows their usually cryptic instructions, someone's life is improved: Sharon's, in the pilot; a stranger, in many episodes, and even Jaye herself, especially in connection with Eric (Tyron Leitso), a local bartender nursing his own romantic trauma.

Created by Emmy-winning director Todd Holland ("Malcolm in the Middle") and Bryan Fuller ("Dead Like Me," NBC's "Carrie" remake), "Wonderfalls" benefits from both Holland's kinetic visual style and optimistic world view as well as Fuller's sardonic edge and a keen talent for writing vivid female characters.

Viewers who are able to buy into the quirky concept at the heart of "Wonderfalls" are the ones who are most likely to love the show, since the Fox series isn't really about why this weird phenomenon has unexpectedly entered Jaye's life.

"Most reporters I've spoken with want very badly to understand what is happening to her, but the 'why' is really very unimportant," Dhavernas says. "That is just not the point of the show. The journey is how she will deal with this situation, and how it will change her life."

"What has been very really interesting about the focus groups is that women over 30 are kind of uneasy about Jaye," adds Fuller, the show's executive producer and co-creator. "They don't know whether she is crazy or not, so they don't know whether they have permission to laugh at or with her, because you don't laugh at the mentally ill."

"The men seem so much more willing to just go with it, to entertain that this is coming from something larger than herself. I mean, we see the results of her following these instructions and they turn out for the better for the people involved, so I think you should be able to argue fairly definitively that there is a higher power at work here."

While the pilot gives short shrift to Jaye's family, apart from Finneran's hilariously insecure Sharon, subsequent episodes take more advantage of the A-list talent hired for these roles.

Looking about 15 minutes older than she did back in 1981's "Mommie Dearest," Scarwid is priceless as a glamorous mom who genuinely loves her children whenever she thinks of it, while Sadler is the kind yet befuddled dad any manipulative child would kill for.

It's Jaye's two siblings who dominate the supporting cast, however. Finneran vacillates smoothly between warm and witchy as Sharon, while Pace, fresh off his acting honors in Showtime's "Soldier's Girl," comes unglued to great comic effect as the smug student whose own agnosticism is badly shaken by his growing awareness that something extraordinary is happening to his sister.

Actress Tracie Thoms has little to do as Jaye's best friend, Mahandra, but female viewers are bound to respond to Leitso, whose mostly levelheaded Eric is a welcome foil to Jaye's bizarre new situation.

"The relationship between Jaye and Eric is handled very truthfully, and I think that's what's amazing about the show as a whole," Dhavernas says. "You have all this comedy on the one hand, and it works very well, but then you have a very strong dramatic line as well. The writers make it possible for us to cross that line without a bump, and you begin to see it in other relationships as well, particularly with her family."

"We'll be doing longer (story) arcs with the Jaye and Eric love story after the first few episodes," Fuller adds. "That's another thing that separates us from 'Joan of Arcadia,' I think. They're mainly a drama, or dramedy, while we are definitely a romantic comedy."

Straightening out the hunks on 'Amy'

By Taylor Michaels

Q Please tell us about Tim Omundson, who plays District Attorney David McClaren, Amy's new love interest on "Judging Amy." He is really special! -Barbara Ormonde, Ontario, Calif.

A And a totally different actor! Tim Omundson, whom some readers find a catch in his own right, plays Maxine's boss, Sean Potter, on "Amy."

That's Adrian Pasdar, previously of "Mysterious Ways" and the cult series "Profit," as David McClaren. His complete bio has appeared in this column many times before, so suffice it to say that the handsome Pasdar, a 36-year-old Massachusetts native, is married to Dixie Chick Natalie Maines, with whom he has a son, Jackson Slade Pasdar, about to turn 3.

Q We loved the rendition of "My Little Corner of the World" sung on the Friday, Feb. 6, wedding episode of NBC's "Ed." Who performed it? -Grampa

Adrian Pasdar

Coyote and Grammy Linda via e-mail.

A The Hoboken, N.J.-based trio Yo La Tengo performed the song. You'll find it on their compact disc called "I Can Hear the Heart Beating as One."

By the way, NBC, as always, seems to be going to absurd lengths to keep its options open. Even as its own promo spots were announcing "the final episode of 'Ed,'" the network still refused to confirm whether it was canceling the ratings-challenged show.

Q I am glad to see "NYPD Blue" back on ABC's schedule, but honestly, is the network trying to kill the show, yanking it off the air all those weeks? -Helen in Chicago.

A While "Blue" still commands respectable ratings whenever ABC runs one of the season's 22 new episodes, the show tanks when a rerun airs. To avoid that, ABC simply pulls the show for a couple of months each season to test another series, then returns "Blue" to the lineup for an unbroken string of new episodes to close out the season.

As for the future of the show, ABC recently announced it has ordered 22 more episodes for the 2004-05 TV season. As it now stands, that season is scheduled to be the show's swan song, but the network always could reverse that decision if they decide the show is still performing strongly.

Feature Story

'The Sopranos' returns at last - you got a problem with that?

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

The brilliance of "The Sopranos" is that it portrays mobsters as real men. Sure, it shows them as the thieving thugs they are, smashing in heads over a slight or riddling bodies with bullets for more severe transgressions.

But the HBO hit also reveals them as worried and loving fathers and cheating and unforgiving husbands. The brilliance extends to the writing and acting, and can be seen in the costumes, the sets and the backdrop locations. There is never a false note on this show, and what would be considered terrific on any other program is simply business as usual here.

It seems like hyperbole to crown a show the best, but something has to be, and nothing else comes close. Granted, it features violence and sex, and it offends some Italian-Americans. But the mobsters it portrays are not supposed to be heroes, and no one has ever touted this gritty production as family hour.

One indication of how these characters have seeped into the audience's consciousness is that in the 15 months since the fourth season ended, viewers continue to talk about what will happen. On Sunday, March 7, "The Sopranos" returns with 13 new episodes.

Will crime boss Tony Soprano (James Gandolfini) and his long-suffering wife, Carmela (Edie Falco), remain separated? Is he in control of himself, his inner demons and the mob? Can his confidante Christopher (Michael Imperioli) stay off heroin? Will the mob find out that Christopher's fiancée, Adriana (Drea de Matteo), is cooperating with the FBI? And will the FBI finally nab the big guy?

Two of the stars and the first four episodes of the fifth season give some insight. Without being a spoiler, it is fair to say that at least for the first part of the new season, Tony and Carmela are separated, and the huge house in West Caldwell, N.J., is more a shell than a home.

"They have all undergone all kinds of stuff during the course of shooting this thing," Falco says from her Manhattan apartment. "It's very organic. The story lines are about people changing according to their internal lives and external lives."

As for Carmela's changes, Falco says, "I guess she has, maybe like everybody else living in this time, gotten a little less confident about all the things that she thought were forever - the stability of her country, walking in the streets, family."

Falco is a lot more pared down than her character. "I have no long nails, no flashy jewelry," she says. "I'm quite different physically, which I absolutely love. It makes me feel like a different person when I'm playing Carmela."

It takes Falco about two hours to transform into a bourgeois Jersey housewife. The teasing of the hair alone takes a while, she says, and once those talons are pasted on, Falco can't even put on the jewelry.

Among the changes Carmela copes with this season is the dissolution of her family. Meadow (Jamie-Lynn DiScala), Tony and Carmela's daughter, is doing well. A student at Columbia University, she shares an apartment, has a boyfriend, and volunteers at a law center in the South Bronx.

Their son, A.J. (Robert Iler), however, is troubled. He resents his mother and is fighting with her. Tony tries plying him with expensive gifts to ease the separation. A.J. is failing school, and the principal (David Strathairn) calls in the parents. This new character seems a likely romantic interest for Carmela now that the object of her fantasies from past seasons, Furio (Federico Castelluccio), is back in Italy and Tony has put out a hit on him.

So the family life is in tatters and the mob life isn't much better. Culling from stories he read in The Star-Ledger of Newark, N.J., series creator David Chase introduces mobsters who are freed after 20 years in prison. And they want action.

Robert Loggia, more often seen playing avuncular guys, turns in a bone-chilling performance as Feech La Manna. Steve Buscemi, a director of some past "Sopranos" episodes, steps before the camera to play another sprung jailbird, Tony, a Soprano cousin who wants to go straight.

Tony, the don, can still rely on Christopher - who is actually Carmela's cousin, but Tony refers to him as a nephew and trusts him like a son.

"We pick up where we left off," Imperioli says from Newark International Airport. "He's been to rehab, and he's back to Adriana, and back to work, and he's sober. He's dealing with challenges without his crutch of substances."

Imperioli explains that as real as it looked when Christopher was shooting up, he was actually using a needle that retracted into itself. "That would gross me out, putting it in," he says, sounding rather squeamish for someone who plays a character who bashes in brains.

A whole new cast of mobsters greets Tony, Carmela and the rest of "The Sopranos" when the hit HBO series returns for its fifth season on Sunday.

For those who need to see the drama unfold, stop reading. For those who want to know about the beginning of the season, here is a synopsis:

In Sunday's "The Two Tonys," the old mobsters return. Tony's sister, Janice (Aida Turturro), now married to Bobby (Steven R. Schirripa), resents having to make Sunday dinner. Tony tries to date his therapist, Dr. Jennifer Melfi (Lorraine Bracco).

"Rat Pack" on March 14 introduces the new Tony. In a quietly amusing moment, he wears the suit he had before prison, proving that the "Miami Vice" look is best remembered, not revived. The next week, "Where's Johnny?" proves tough guys share about as well as toddlers, and more blood is shed as they try to divide up business. Paulie Walnuts (Tony Sirico) shows he has never lost his taste for dirty street fighting. And in "All Happy Families," Feech drives the younger guys crazy with his war stories while Carmela and Tony try to deal with A.J.'s problems.

After this year, there is one season remaining. Imperioli, who has written five episodes, knows how he wants to see the finale. "Dark and ugly," he says. "Why not?"

In the Spotlight

NBC offers less-than-angelic view of 'Charlie's Angels'

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Farrah Fawcett-Majors' exit from "Charlie's Angels" after the first year was just one threat to the hit show.

A new TV movie exposes the backstage trials of the enormously popular 1970s series about female private detectives. In the tradition of last season's NBC film based on the behind-the-scenes discord on "Three's Company," the network airs "Behind the Camera: The Unauthorized Story of Charlie's Angels" Monday, March 8.

Tricia Helfer ("Battlestar Galactica"), Christina Chambers ("Sunset Beach") and Lauren Stamile ("Off Centre") portray Fawcett-Majors, Jaclyn Smith and Kate Jackson, all of whom became immediate television superstars as the investigators who answered to unseen boss Charlie. They were so famous, extra security was a constant requirement for the actresses, who didn't always have an easy time in the spotlight.

Other stars of the story include Dan Castellana ("The Simpsons") and Bruce Altman as "Angels" producers Aaron Spelling and Leonard Goldberg; Wallace Langham as Jay

Bernstein, Fawcett-Majors' then-manager; Ben Browder ("Farscape") as "The Six Million Dollar Man" Lee Majors; and Dan Lauria ("The Wonder Years") as Fred Silverman, ABC's programming chief when the network debuted "Charlie's Angels."

Helfer's firsthand knowledge of the Fawcett-Majors "Charlie's Angels" phenomenon is recent, since she grew up in Canada without a TV set. "I obviously knew about it. I just wasn't familiar with the show itself," Helfer says. "When I first got the audition for this, I had to go out and get some DVDs so I could get a grasp on the characters. I watched them on my computer, and my husband and his friend just stood there watching, too. You realize the show really had something, because it's still a draw. Everyone gets sucked into it."

Controversial as "jiggle TV" in its day, "Charlie's Angels" seems relatively tame in the era of Janet Jackson's Super Bowl halftime show. "There really wasn't anything daring about it," Helfer believes, especially after trying to capture the essence of Fawcett-Majors, who dropped the "Majors" after her 1982 divorce. "It's a fine line between mimicking the person and bringing something to the part. You can be so concerned with how the person walks and talks that you lose a bit of yourself."

"A voice coach gave me a good tip: When you're playing another actor, you have to nail the scenes that everybody knows. With the scenes that nobody knows, like (Farrah) being in her trailer or with her husband, you can relax into those a little more. At the end of the day, we know Farrah Fawcett-Majors as she was in an interview or playing Jill Munroe (her 'Charlie's Angels' part), but not how she was in her own space and time."

Set to return as an evil Cylon in a weekly "Battlestar Galactica" revival on Sci-Fi Channel, Helfer was comforted by not being alone in playing a well-known actress. She says she and "Behind the Camera" co-stars Chambers and Stamile "definitely formed a bond of being there for one another. Each of us had her moments of doubting her performance in a way, so we supported one another and provided a realistic idea of whether something sounded good or not. On a project like this, it's nice to know that somebody else is going through it with you."

Sports Feature

It's 'Winky' vs. 'Sugar' for the junior middleweight

By George Dickle
© Zap2it

This week, two fighters seek to give the junior middleweight division its first undisputed champion since 1975.

In what has become known as "the war at 154," "Sugar" Shane Mosley (39-2, 35 KOs) puts his super welterweight title on the line, stepping up in class to fight junior middleweight champ Ronald "Winky" Wright (46-3, 25 KOs) in a scheduled 12-round bout at the Mandalay Bay Casino in Las Vegas on Saturday, March 13.

Mosley, a champion in three different weight classes, defeated Oscar De La Hoya in September for the super welterweight crown, thus reigniting talk that he is one of the elite fighters of his time.

Wright is making the fifth defense of his current title. He had been asking for a major title showdown such as this for years, but his pleas had fallen mostly on deaf ears.

Why? "Nobody wants to fight someone who is defense first because it eliminates the chance to look spectacular," explains Jim Lampley, who will be ringside with Larry Merchant and Emanuel Steward for HBO's live coverage. "I mean, you've really got to grind it out against Winky. (There is) a smaller payday. He's almost knockout-proof. So this is a rough assignment."

"Winky Wright is a very tactical fighter, a very defensively oriented southpaw who starts out by limiting the damage that his opponent can do, and then looks for opportunities to score and win rounds."

Originally, Mosley was to fight Ricardo Mayorga on this date, until Cory Spinks upset Mayorga in December to win the undisputed welterweight crown and knock him out of the Mosley fight. Now, Mosley takes a career risk in facing a fighter who has no name outside the boxing community, but who is known as an extremely tough opponent within it. "Now (Mosley) has to fight a guy about whom the public knows less than they did Mayorga, about whom the public probably doesn't realize that it's all but a pick-'em fight, and Shane won't get the credit he deserves outside the boxing cult if he wins the fight," Lampley says. "And if he loses the fight, it looks like a big embarrassment, when in fact within the boxing cult, we all know that Winky can beat him."

"So this is not what Shane might have been hoping for in terms of a platform for his post-De La Hoya fight. But give him credit - he's fighting an opponent nobody else wants to fight and somebody that people have been ducking for years. And if he beats him, then I think within the ringside boxing cult, some people will see that as an even bigger accomplishment than beating Oscar, just because the styles conspired in such a way to favor Shane against Oscar, (but) the styles don't conspire that way against Winky."

As for what Wright must be aware of against Mosley, Lampley says, "Well, Winky's going in against a guy who hits harder and, I think, is a better body puncher than anybody Winky's been in with, with probably the sole exception of (Fernando) Vargas... and Vargas, of course, had an off night (when he fought Wright). So I think that Winky is stepping up in class."

"He says he's been ready for this for five or six years; I have no reason to doubt him," Lampley continues. "And he's going against a guy who has a great deal of incentive because he's finally emerged again at the top of a weight class. You know, Shane lost his pedestal at 154 to (Vernon) Forrest, had to sort of eat dirt in the De La Hoya negotiations to get a chance to get back. (He) capitalized and won the fight. Now he doesn't get the follow-up fight opportunity that he wanted. But still, at the end of the day, Shane has more to gain than Winky just because he's Shane Mosley, and Winky, even if he wins the fight, he's still going to be Winky Wright."

The undercard is a clash between rising heavyweight Joe Mesi (28-0, 25 KOs) and one-time cruiserweight champion Vassily Jirov (33-1, 29 KOs). "This is a case where the celebrated 'Baby' Joe Mesi will be risking his unbeaten record in the heavyweight division against a terrific fighter moving up in weight," Lampley says. "And Jirov is an all-action guy who goes straight at his opponents. He's the most active body puncher in the sport. It should be a very high-contact fight."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, March 7 (Fox, 2:30 p.m. ET): After a week off, the NASCAR boys get back at it for the running of the UAW-Daimler-Chrysler 400 from Las Vegas Motor Speedway. Matt Kenseth pulled away for the win here a year ago, beginning a streak of 33 straight weeks atop the standings en route to capturing the Winston Cup. The fact Kenseth didn't enter the winner's circle again after Vegas prompted in part NASCAR's new points system that puts more emphasis on finishing first.

"College Basketball" Monday, March 8 (ESPN, 7 p.m. ET): The NCAA tournament usually kicks off March Madness, but why wait 'til then? ESPN's string of conference championship games this week, beginning tonight with the Colonial Athletic final followed by the Missouri Valley Conference championship, is enough to put any diehard college hoops fan into a tizzy. In all, ESPN airs eight conference title games through Saturday, as well as ACC tournament action. And that's not even counting what ESPN2 is covering.

"PGA Golf" Thursday, March 11 (USA Network, 4 p.m. ET): Justin Leonard faces a world-class field when he begins defense of his title in the $5 million Honda Classic in Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. Leonard broke the tournament record with a 24-under 264 for his eighth career Tour victory, but a new challenge awaits this year. Play moves to the more difficult Sunrise Course at the Country Club at Mirasol, a brand new layout designed by renowned architect Tom Fazio.

Movie: Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory

Gene Wilder stars in this colorful 1971 film as an eccentric candymaker who takes five contest winners on a tour through his mysterious chocolate factory. Peter Ostrum portrays the sweet but poor Charlie, who has dreamed of seeing the inside of the factory. Directed by Mel Stuart, the film also stars Jack Albertson.

12 p.m. on TNT

Movie: My Girl

Vada (Anna Chlumsky) is an 11-year-old girl with a less than ordinary life. Her father (Dan Aykroyd) is a mortician who uses the family home for his funeral business. Her mother died after her birth, leaving Vada with her dad and her grandmother, who suffers from Alzheimer's. Into this girl's world arrives a plucky woman (Jamie Lee Curtis) responding to her father's employment ad. Macaulay Culkin also stars.

7 p.m. and USA

Movie: The Lost World: Jurassic Park

Dinosaurs make it to the mainland in this 1997 sequel to Steven Spielberg's first giant-lizard thriller. A researcher (Julianne Moore) and her boyfriend (Jeff Goldblum) head for a remote island to study more of John Hammond's (Richard Attenborough) miraculous reptiles, but trouble follows as interlopers compromise the controlled environment.

8 p.m. and HALL

Movie: A Place Called Home

Anni-Margret stars as Tula Bouvier Jeeters in this new movie about independence and redemption. Tula is quite content living on her own in the home she once shared with her husband, but her niece and nephew (Hunter Tylo, Sean O'Bryan) by marriage can't wait until she retires to a senior citizens home. Into Tula's life comes a con man and his young daughter (Matthew Settle, Shailene Woodley), and the three form an unlikely family.

Monday

8:55 p.m. and TBS

Movie: Back to the Future Part III

In this entertaining 1990 conclusion to the fantasy trilogy, time traveler Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) goes back before his own era. He pursues his scientist friend Doc Brown (Christopher Lloyd) to the Old West, where Doc finds romance with a schoolmarm (Mary Steenburgen). All of them find lots of traditional frontier adventure, leading up to a satisfying conclusion to the series.

Saturday

11:35 a.m. and TMC

Movie: Little Man Tate

Jodie Foster directed this partly autobiographical film from 1991 about a gifted child (Adam Hann-Byrd) whose achievements leave him lonely and out of touch with his peers. Foster plays the boy's heartbroken mother, who feels pressured to release her son into the care of a child specialist, sensitively played by Dianne Wiest.

All My Children

Babe was relieved when Joe announced that J.R. is her baby's father. After pleading with Tad, Krystal dodged a bullet when Tad didn't tell J.R. that Babe's previous marriage was never annulled. Erica had an angry phone conversation with her father, Eric Kane, and blamed him for her rape as a teenager. Erica's stress showed as she shopped for a baby shower gift for Bianca and was helped by a kind young man who was shown to be Bob by Warner. Edmund told a stunned Maria that he's proceeding with the risky surgery. Greenlee turned to her good side and was honest with Ryan, then was happily surprised when he asked her to go away with him. Coming: Kendall admits that she still loves Ryan.

As the World Turns

After learning that Holden is thinking of sending her to a mental hospital, Lily fled to see Dusty in Chicago. Holden ordered Lily to come home, but she vowed that no one would keep her from her children. Jordan Sinclair persuaded Barbara to hire him as front man for BFO, then rescued Jennifer from a disastrous interview. Confronted by Barbara, Paul handed over the documents, then quit, prompting a regretful Barbara to beg him to stay. Chris wasn't happy when Alison agreed to testify against Clark. Sarah admitted to Jessica that she set her up to be caught with the letters. Coming: Will Sarah stay or be forced to go?

Bold and Beautiful

Taylor appeared before Ridge to offer comfort and shocked a tipsy Jackie with a visitation, urging her to tell what she knows about the paternity tests in order to have peace. Deacon overheard a conversation between Jackie and Caitlin about the baby's paternity, and forced the truth out of Jackie. Hector found out that Caitlin is working as an intern at Forrester, and barged in as Caitlin and Thomas shared a romantic lunch. Hector became uncomfortable when Stephanie recognized him. After seeing the debut of Sharpe Designs, Eric refused to produce the fashions, and a shocked and hurt Deacon announced that he's quitting. Coming: Brooke gets closer to learning the truth.

Days of Our Lives

Feeling cornered, Marlena fatally stabbed Doug, who died with Hope at his side. Before he succumbed, Doug wrote Marlena's name in his own blood, and hid the clue near Tom Horton's gravestone. John caught a fleeting glimpse as the killer fled and wondered if it could be Doc, but later declared that he didn't recognize the killer. Nicole managed to hide the will and evidence from the safe so that a frustrated Bo found nothing. Kate offered Sami a job in London, which Sami told Kate was just to keep her away from Lucas. Retaliating, Kate accused Sami of coming on to Lucas just to get back at her, and Lucas demanded that Sami admit her true feelings. Patrick was shown to be Bonnie's son. Coming: Bonnie's news about Jennifer's wealth affects Patrick.

General Hospital

Carly became furious upon realizing that Alcazar sent Faith to destroy Sonny. Carly was shocked when Ric testified on Sonny's behalf, while Carly warned Jason that if he doesn't speak for her, she'd expose Sonny's battles with depression. Courtney stood up to Faith, who pulled a gun on her. Elizabeth confessed to Ric that she killed Zander, but he convinced her that she might be mistaken. Meanwhile, Emily received a letter from Zander saying that Nikolai killed him. Tracy suggested that Sage pretend to be pregnant with Dillon's child. Tracy convinced Ned to keep his report clearing the Quartermaines of liability a secret so that she can continue to run ELQ. Coming: Courtney reveals Faith's threats to Jason.

Guiding Light

Confronted by Cassie that either she tell Phillip his baby is alive, or Cassie will, Olivia brought Emma to Ravenwood and introduced Phillip to his child. Phillip appeared grateful on the surface, but raged inside, as he privately vowed to take the baby from Olivia. Reva had a vision that Marah was at the fairgrounds on the fateful night and pulled the trigger, just as Marah arrived at the police station and told Josh and Jeffrey she won't allow Josh to be punished for what she did. Bill jumped at Billy's suggestion that he take over for Josh as manager of Lewis Construction. Coming: Phillip begins to plot his revenge.

One Life to Live

Blair survived surgery and learned that her tumor is benign. As Blair questioned her possibly impaired judgment from her illness, Viki urged her to do the right thing, while Evangeline planned to appeal Todd's conviction. Kelly suffered abdominal pains but hid them from Kevin. The killer took Eve hostage and forced her to call Natalie and tell her that Cristian is alive in a Nevada hospital. Natalie immediately fled the safe house. Paul intended to prove that David and Dorian killed Aunt Betsy. Nigel saved his hotel from being demolished by winning a poker game against Asa. Coming: Todd becomes a free man again.

Passions

Gwen and Rebecca conspired to adopt little Ethan. Fox offered comfort to Theresa as Pilar began packing the family's possessions. Eve objected to Whitney's plan to sing at Liz's club, prompting Whitney to bring up her mother's affair. Eve warned Liz to stay away from Whitney. Ivy encouraged David to take Grace to Italy, hoping to prevent Sam from discovering that she deceived him. Antonio offered to step aside if it will make Sheridan happy. Lucas and Alistair were both filled with suspicion following a standoff. Coming: Sheridan has a revelation.

Young and Restless

After lying to Detective Weber that she was with Sharon on the night in question, Nikki forced Sharon to admit to her that she had a brief affair with Cameron. Nikki then warned Sharon she wouldn't cover for her anymore. Phyllis told Jack that she'll give up her job at Newman if he fires Diane, but Jack believed Diane has changed and refused. Phyllis showed up unexpectedly at Victor's sentencing hearing and asked the judge for leniency, resulting in Victor receiving probation and community service. Jill caught Kay trying to hide a drink in her hand. Shiloh offered J.T. a record contract. When he declined, she gave him her business card. Coming: Kevin is on the outs from everyone.

Louise Sorel heads for 'Passions'

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

Fan fave Louise Sorel, who racked up numerous Soap Opera Awards as the wildly wicked Vivian Alamain in "Days of Our Lives," heads back to daytime March 19 when she joins the cast of NBC's "Passions."

The role reunites Sorel with James E. Reilly, the head writer responsible for Viv's most dastardly deeds, including the scheme in which she buried Carly (Crystal Chappell) alive. It remains to be seen what the "Passions" creator-executive producer has up his sleeve for the actress, but this time out, Sorel won't be high falutin' like she was in "Days." She'll be playing Dort, a woman working in a tuna cannery.

In other news: Another former NBC star, Christina Chambers (ex-Maria Torres-Evans in "Sunset Beach") also returns to the small screen, this time playing the role of Jaclyn Smith in "Behind the Camera: The Unauthorized Story of Charlie's Angels" Monday, March 8, on the peacock network. Chambers recalls watching the spy series as a youngster. "I remember running around our neighborhood with pretend guns, and I had to have my hair feathered like Jackie," she says.

Dear Paulette: I seem to remember Stanley Kamel (the psychiatrist in "Monk") from a soap back in the early 1970s - perhaps "One Life to Live." Is that correct? Thank you. -Lois Fiori, Ottawa, Ill.

Dear Reader: You are correct that Stanley spent several years on a soap, but it wasn't "One Life to Live." It was "Days of Our Lives," where he played Eric Peters from 1972 to 1976.

Dear Paulette: What ever happened to Marlena and John's (Deidre Hall, Drake Hogestyn) twins? We know they had them, or are we crazy? I remember them being about six or seven when they (Marlena and John) got "remarried" and Roman came back from the dead. Please help! -Tisha and Debra, Amarillo, Texas.

Dear Readers: The only twins that Marlena Evans Brady Black gave birth to are Sami and Eric. Their biological father is Roman, but John raised them when he thought he was Roman. Belle is the only natural child of Marlena and John.

Matt and Sarah (guest stars Barry Watson and Sarah Danielle Madison) have a falling-out over their respective performances as emergency-room staffers in "The One Thing." She accuses him of trying to one-up all the other medical students, including her — but a shocking twist leaves Matt pondering whether he even wants to continue pursuing a career as a doctor.

7 p.m. and TBS
Movie: Down to Earth
A revision of "Heaven Can Wait," this 2001 comedy-fantasy stars Chris Rock as an aspiring comedian who needs a new body — and fast — after an angel (Eugene Levy) accidentally claims him before his time. His spirit ends up being transplanted into a tycoon who has a scheming family. Regina King, Chazz Palminteri and Greg Kinnear ("Ally McBeal") co-star.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Movie: Judas
The last production overseen by Father Ellwood "Bud" Kieser before his death, this new drama movie stars Johnathon Schaech ("That Thing You Do!") as the disciple of Jesus (Jonathan Scarfe) who carved a path of betrayal ultimately known throughout the ages. Billed as an "interpretive dramatization," the film co-stars Tim Matheson ("The West Wing") and has a script by celebrated TV writer-producer Tom Fontana ("Oz").

The residents of Everwood band together to try to rescue three people (guest stars James Earl Jones, Beau Bridges and Kirsten Nelson) trapped in a collapsed coal mine in "Three Miners From Everwood." The situation prompts Drs. Brown and Abbott (Treat Williams, Tom Amandes) to do some internal examination of themselves as they race time to save the trio.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC
Movie: Behind the Camera: The Unauthorized Story of Charlie's Angels
In the tradition of the "Three's Company" backstage movie that aired last year, this new offering recounts the off-camera stories of the making of another TV classic. Tricia Helfer plays Farrah Fawcett-Majors, who caused shock waves by leaving the private-detective series after its first season. Christina Chambers and Lauren Stamile portray fellow "Angels" Jaclyn Smith and Kate Jackson.

8 p.m. on USA
Movie: Con Air
Parolee Cameron Poe's (Nicolas Cage) trip home on a prison transport plane is interrupted by fellow passengers bent on going free. As authorities on the ground debate blowing up the hijacked plane, Poe is trying to protect a female guard from the resident serial rapist and watching out for a fellow parolee who's desperately in need of insulin.

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Little Giants

Two brothers, ex-jock Kevin and mild-mannered Danny (Ed O'Neill, Rick Moranis), take their sibling rivalry to the athletic field when Danny's daughter fails to make the youth football team her uncle coaches. Danny starts his own squad of misfits, whose dream is to take on Kevin's hotshots and win. Real NFL stars, including Emmitt Smith, make cameo appearances in this 1994 comedy.

7 p.m. on TMC

Movie: Bull Durham

Writer-director Ron Shelton's ("White Men Can't Jump") 1988 comedy became one of its year's funniest, sexiest hits and cemented Kevin Costner's stardom. The actor portrays a minor-league catcher who finds major-league romance with a baseball groupie (Susan Sarandon). Tim Robbins, Sarandon's companion of many years, also stars.

8 p.m. and BRAV

Significant Others

A merger of an unscripted series and a sitcom, this show premieres as improvisational actors come up with their own lines in playing couples who attend marriage counseling. The characters deal with a variety of issues, from pregnancy to unemployment. Chris Spencer, Nicole Randall Johnson, Brian Palermo, Andrea Savage, Herschel Bleefeld, Jane Edith Wilson and Fred Goss comprise the ensemble cast.

8 p.m. and DSC

Mob Scene

The 1997 movie "Donnie Brasco" recounted the true relationship between a mobster and an undercover FBI agent, and the new episode "The Ghost of Sonny Black" also tells the story. Dominick "Sonny Black" Napolitano spilled the beans on the inside dealings of the Bonanno crime family, not realizing he was giving the information to someone who would engineer the takedown of the mob operation. Napolitano's murder followed.

8:30 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Cracking Up

An outsider enters the world of a rich Beverly Hills family in the debut of this comedy series from "School of Rock" writer Mike White. Jason Schwartzman ("Pushover") plays a graduate student enlisted to psychoanalyze the youngest son (Bret Lerner) of an outwardly happy, privately troubled clan. Molly Shannon ("Saturday Night Live"), Chris McDonald ("The Perfect Storm") and Caitlin Wachs ("Family Affair") also star.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC

NYPD Blue

First, there was Lt. Fancy, then came Lt. Rodriguez — and the precinct gets another leader in the new episode "Take My Wife, Please." The new chief is Sgt. Eddie Gibson (John O'Donohue), who doesn't have much time to settle in before having to deal with a police officer suspected of killing his wife's paramour. A comedy club operator has his last laugh when his body is found in a stolen car's trunk.

9 p.m. on TMC

Movie: The Crying Game

Writer-director Neil Jordan won a best screenplay Oscar for this graceful 1992 drama. Stephen Rea ("The End of the Affair") stars as an Irish Republican Army member who befriends a British soldier (Forest Whitaker) whom he's captured. He later finds and falls in love with the man's girlfriend (Jaye Davidson). Even if you know the surprise twist, the film is worth seeing; if you don't, we'll stop here.

9:10 p.m. on TBS

Movie: U-Turn

Director Oliver Stone moved away from political polemics like "JFK" and "Nixon" with this 1997 melodrama, casting Sean Penn as a gambler who becomes stranded in the desert. His plight ends up landing him between spouses (Nick Nolte, Jennifer Lopez) who want to kill each other. Jon Voight, Billy Bob Thornton, Claire Danes and Powers Boothe also star in the offbeat tale.

international panic by defecting with his crew. Sam Neill, Scott Glenn, Richard Jordan and Joss Ackland also are in the sterling cast.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Stephen King's Kingdom Hospital Mrs. Druse (Diane Ladd) can't give up on one of the mysteries of her hospital stay — even after she is discharged — in the new episode "Death's Kingdom," written by series mentor King. She enlists Peter (Jack Coleman) to try to determine the source of the mysterious wailing in the elevator shafts.

Law & Order

The first — and possibly the best — of the films based on Tom Clancy's spy novels featuring heroic CIA agent Jack Ryan casts Alec Baldwin in that role: The true star of this 1990 adventure movie, however, is the perfectly cast Sean Connery as a Soviet submarine captain who sets off an

A reporter, who was sent back to the United States after revealing the location of the military unit he was with in Iraq, is shot in "Embedded." Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) have no shortage of suspects, but the list narrows when the handgun used in the shooting turns out to be have been issued by the Army. A sergeant then comes under suspicion.

Thursday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
The 35th Annual NAACP Image Awards

Taped the previous weekend at Hollywood's Universal Amphitheatre, this yearly ceremony remains a major event for black talents. Major nominees include music stars OutKast (with six nominations) and Beyonce (with five bids; one for her acting in the movie "The Fighting Temptations"), and the Showtime series "Soul Food"

(up for seven awards). The stars of the show "Girlfriends" host; Stevie Wonder and B.B. King perform.

7 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Rookie of the Year

A 12-year-old boy (Thomas Ian Nicholas) becomes a major-league sensation when an accident renders him a phenomenal pitching arm. Naturally, he helps hurl baseball's hapless Chicago Cubs into the playoffs.

7:32 p.m. on 6-NBC
Will & Grace

Will and Grace (Eric McCormack, Debra Messing) are confident enough in their real-estate success to expand their business in the new episode "East Side Story." Once they do, they find themselves in conflict with another high-powered reality team played by guest stars Edie Falco ("The Sopranos") and Chloe Sevigny ("Boys Don't Cry"). Karen (Megan Mullally) consults psychic John Edward (who guest stars as himself).

8 p.m. on USA

Movie: 10 Things I Hate About You

One of several recent modernizations of stage classics, this 1999 comedy puts clever twists on Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew." Julia Stiles ("Save the Last Dance") and Larisa Oleynik (Nickelodeon's "Alex Mack") play sisters whose love lives are intertwined, much to the younger sibling's chagrin. She can't date until her reluctant sister does.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Without a Trace

A man (guest star Michael Gaston) argues with his wife (guest star Karen Sillas; "Under Suspicion"), then vanishes en route to make a bank deposit, in the new episode "Legacy."

Friday Best Bets

12 p.m. and HBO

Movie: The Saint

A renegade Russian leader hires globe-trotting rent-a-spy Simon Templar to steal a nuclear fusion formula from a beautiful physicist. Employing a campy array of costumes, makeup, and accents, Val Kilmer fearlessly throws himself into the title role — leaving Elisabeth Shue, as the scientist, with little to do but look bewildered, bothered and finally bewitched in the 1997 adventure movie.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Playing It Straight

Putting a different twist on the premise of "Boy Meets Boy," another unscripted series debuts by challenging viewers — and Jackie, the young woman who has to choose a companion here — to determine which of her 14 suitors are heterosexual. If she ultimately selects one who is, she and the guy will share $1 million. However, if she picks one who turns out to be gay, he gets the whole jackpot. Daphne Brogdon is the host.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: Sister Act 2: Back in the Habit

Joan (Amber Tamblyn) struggles to meet a heavenly request to assume more household duties, putting a strain on her studies and friendships, in the new episode "Requiem for a Third Grade Ashtray." Will (Joe Mantegna) gets into a tough situation in a stuck elevator with an apprehended embezzler and a woman who's going into labor. Kevin (Jason Ritter) senses his possible physical improvement. Paul Sand guest stars.

7 p.m. and DSC

American Beauty Shop

Mall locations have taken over some of the duties — and the clientele — of traditional beauty parlors, but such specialty shops still exist. This new special visits one of them: Illusions Beauty Salon in Rincon, Ga., near Savannah. The patrons still maintain close bonds with the employees there, with their conversations covering all sorts of topics ... many of them extremely personal.

7 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Sister Act 2: Back in the Habit

Whoopi Goldberg reprises her role as lounge singer Deloris in this 1993 sequel. This time, the nuns try to convert a gang of inner-city delinquents into a gospel choir. Kathy Najimy again steals every scene she appears in, and Maggie Smith also reprises her role as Mother Superior. The clever end credits (bound to be demolished here in now-typical TBS style) and rousing gospel-music sequences are particularly enjoyable.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Wonderfalls

The unexpected rules the life of Niagara Falls souvenir-shop employee Jaye (Caroline Dhavernas) as this fantasy series premieres with the episode "Wax Lion." Anything that resembles an animal, be it a key chain or a cartoon, springs to life before Jaye — sending her on missions to help her relatives and friends. Co-stars include Tony Award winner Katie Finneran ("Noises Off") and Diana Scarwid ("Mommie Dearest").

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

The military drama marks its 200th episode with "What If?" a fanciful story that poses what might have happened if the regular characters had followed different paths. One of the subplots is a payoff of sorts for longtime fans of the show, since Harm and Mac's (David James Elliott, Catherine Bell) shared fantasy shows them as a married couple — but their wedded life wouldn't necessarily run smoothly.

8 p.m. and USA

Touching Evil

The acclaimed British miniseries — shown in this country on "Mystery!" — gets Americanized as this weekly version premieres, produced by Bruce Willis in association with siblings Allen and Albert Hughes ("Menace II Society"). Jeffrey Donovan plays an FBI agent who doesn't experience fear after recuperating from being shot in the head.

9:30 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: Being John Malkovich

Craig Schwartz (John Cusack) hasn't had much luck with his street puppet shows, but an office job gives him the experience of a lifetime. He finds a secret portal that leads into the mind of actor John Malkovich. Craig and a co-worker (Catherine Keener) give other people the chance — for a fee — to be someone else for a few minutes.

Saturday Best Bets

6 p.m. on TNT

Movie: The Mask

Human doormat Stanley Ipkiss (Jim Carrey) is about to end it all when he spots what appears to be a body floating in the river below. He leaps in to rescue the poor soul and discovers that all he saved is a strange mask. Just as he thinks he's hit rock bottom, Stanley's new possession proves him wrong. When he dons the mask, he becomes a green-faced cartoonlike character, who is anything but ordinary. Cameron Diaz also stars in this 1994 comedy.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: The Tracy Morgan Show

Fearful of who else might become his neighbor, Tracy (Tracy Morgan) urges Spoon (John Witherspoon) to occupy a newly vacant apartment in the new episode "Spoon Moves In." The plan backfires when Spoon insinuates himself into nearly every aspect of Tracy's family life. Derek and Jimmy (Marc John Jefferies, Bobb'e J. Thompson) face off in a boxing match.

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Good Will Hunting

Robin Williams won his first Oscar for this 1997 drama, and co-stars Matt Damon and Ben Affleck shared a statuette for best screenplay. Will (Damon) is working as a janitor at a university when his amazing talent for math is discovered by a professor who encourages him to use it. But emotional baggage and loyalty to his blue-collar buds have him resisting. A therapist (Williams) with issues of his own attempts to unlock Will's potential.

8 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Overboard

Garry Marshall directed this 1987 comedy about an heiress who throws her carpenter overboard rather than pay him for work he did on her yacht. When she loses her memory, he gets revenge by convincing her they are married. Goldie Hawn, Katherine Helmond, Kurt Russell, Edward Herrmann and Roddy McDowall star.

8:30 p.m. on HBO

Boxing

"Sugar" Shane Mosley headlines a doubleheader of boxing from Las Vegas. Mosley (39-2, 35 KOs) puts his super welterweight title on the line against junior middleweight champion Ronald Wright (46-3, 25 KOs) in a scheduled 12-round bout for the undisputed 154-pound title. Mosley defeated Oscar De La Hoya in September 2003, while the southpaw Wright is making the fifth defense of his current belt. Also, heavyweights Vassiliy Jirov and Joe Mesli meet.

9:15 p.m. on TMC

Movie: Taxi Driver

Director Martin Scorsese was honored at the 1976 Cannes Film Festival for this dark film about cab driver Travis Bickle (played by a supremely eerie Robert De Niro), whose lonely existence causes him to withdraw and break with reality. Cybill Sheppard, Jodie Foster, Harvey Keitel and Albert Brooks also star; veteran composer Bernard Herrmann wrote the score.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating, one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"MONA LISA SMILE": Julia Roberts and several of today's most impressive younger actresses - Kirsten Dunst, Julia Stiles and Maggie Gyllenhaal ("Secretary") - add zest to a rather predictable plot in this school drama directed by Mike Newell ("Four Weddings and a Funeral"). Roberts plays a bold new Wellesley College teacher in the 1950s, when she encourages her students to think for themselves, even if it means bucking the social mores of the era. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "Art Forum," "College Then and Now" and "What Women Wanted: 1953" documentaries; Elton John music video; photo gallery. *** (PG-13: AS, P) "SCHINDLER'S LIST": Filmed almost entirely in black and white, Steven Spielberg's profoundly moving 1993 Holocaust drama - making its much-anticipated debut on DVD - was a rightful Oscar winner for best picture and best director. Based on Thomas Keneally's novel, the film tells the saga of an industrialist (Liam Neeson) who saved the lives of numerous Jews. The superb cast also includes Ralph Fiennes (as a Nazi official), Ben Kingsley, Embeth Davidtz and Caroline Goodall. DVD extras: "Voices From the List" and "Behind the Shoah Foundation With Steven Spielberg" documentaries. **** (R: AS, P, V)

"UNDEFEATED": Known primarily for comedy work that encompasses one-man shows, John Leguizamo took a big step forward in drama by making his directorial debut with this true, made-for-HBO drama. He also stars as the "next big thing" in the boxing world, a native of Queens, N.Y., who has a hard time reconciling his sudden fame and popularity with his impoverished background. Clifton Collins Jr. ("Traffic") and Robert Forster ("Jackie Brown") co-star. DVD extras: audio commentary by Leguizamo; "making-of" documentary. *** (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"RED WATER": The hunt for an underwater natural gas source in Louisiana's bayou country brings an oil drifter and his ex-wife (Lou Diamond Phillips, Kristy Swanson) back together in this made-for-TBS adventure. The job becomes more than routine when their boat is hijacked by two criminals in search of a sunken treasure, and a ravenous shark makes its presence known. Rap star Coolio and Jaimz Woolvett ("Unforgiven") also star. DVD extras: theatrical trailers. ** (R: AS, P, V)

"THE INCREDIBLE MRS. RITCHIE": Inspired by experiences of its writer and director, actor Paul Johansson ("One Tree Hill"), this made-for-Show-time drama movie stars actress Gena Rowlands as the widowed mother of two mentally challenged children. She becomes a profound influence on a troubled teenager (Kevin Zegers, "Air Bud") guided toward her by a school principal (James Caan), who believes they both can benefit from their association. *** (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"PREY FOR ROCK & ROLL": The four women who comprise an aspiring rock-music group learn the hard way what sudden success can mean in this ambitious if flawed drama. Gina Gershon, Drea de Matteo ("The Sopranos"), Lori Petty and Shelly Cole portray the quartet, who pursue fame at a slightly older age than most of today's top recording stars. For the most part, they aren't prepared for what they encounter on the fast track to fame. Co-stars include Marc Blucas ("Buffy the Vampire Slayer") and Ben Stiller's former TV sidekick, Nancy Pimental. (R: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"DR. SEUSS' THE CAT IN THE HAT" (March 16): Mike Myers becomes the live-action representation of the Seuss character in this adaptation of the classic children's story. (PG: V)

"21 GRAMS" (March 16): Several disparate people (Sean Penn, Naomi Watts, Benicio Del Toro) are drawn together in very unexpected ways by a tragic accident. (R: AS, P, V)

"VERONICA GUERIN" (March 16): Cate Blanchett stars in the true story of the Irish journalist who became the target of criminals she exposed through her reporting. (R: AS, P, V)

"GOTHICA" (March 23): A psychiatrist (Halle Berry) finds herself trapped in an asylum after allegedly committing a murder of which she has no recollection. (R: AS, N, P, V)

"HONEY" (March 23): Jessica Alba ("Dark Angel") stars as a young dancer-choreographer who debates how far she should go to make her mark in music videos. (PG-13: AS, P)

"THE RUNDOWN" (March 23): A troubleshooter (The Rock) pursues a mobster's son (Seann William Scott), one of several people seeking a treasure in the Amazon. (PG-13: AS, P, V)

USA Network is 'Touching Evil' in new drama

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Sometimes it takes a while for a cable network to find its particular niche. With its latest series entry, USA Network just may have found that elusive groove.

In the summer of 2002, USA premiered two series with two things in common: both began life at other networks, and both feature damaged individuals overcoming their difficulties to help others.

In "The Dead Zone," adapted from the novel by Stephen King (and originally developed for UPN), coma victim Johnny Smith (Anthony Michael Hall) awakens with psychic powers that he tries to use for good intentions. In "Monk," originally developed for ABC, detective Adrian Monk (Tony Shalhoub) battles his grief over his slain wife and his obsessive-compulsive disorder to solve crimes that baffle the police.

On Friday, March 12, USA hopes lightning will strike three times with the premiere of "Touching Evil," adapted from writer Paul Abbott's British series of the same name, which aired on PBS' "Mystery!"

The show's migration to the United States began when both Arnold Rifkin and his producing partner in Cheyenne Enterprises, actor Bruce Willis, fell in love with the British original. First aired in the UK in 1997, it starred Robson Green ("Wire in the Blood") as Dave Creegan, a police detective who returns to the job after having a near-death experience as a result of a bullet to the brain.

His brush with mortality makes him moody and reckless, which both helps and hinders his pursuit of serial killers.

In the U.S. version, Jeffrey Donovan ("Book of Shadows: Blair Witch 2") takes on the role of Creegan, who returns after a 12-month leave of absence - caused by the same gunshot to the head - to the FBI's new Organized and Serial Crime Unit, a rapid-response, elite crime squad.

There, he's partnered with smart and skeptical Susan Branca (Vera Farmiga, "Iron Jawed Angels"), who's not sure what to expect from her unpredictable partner.

Instead of Green's dark, death-wish Creegan, Donovan's Creegan suffers from the more practical side effects of frontal-lobe trauma.

"Green kept it all inside," Donovan says. "What I've been trying to bring to my Creegan is that his emotional chaos is palpable. You see him hurting through every scene. You see him going through the pain of these injuries."

Donovan did a lot of research on the aftereffects of head trauma. "You lose the filter that protects you from emotion," he says. "If I see someone dead, if I'm hurt by it, I'll cry. If I think it's funny, I'll laugh, even if it's inappropriate. Part of the frontal-lobe injury is a loss of shame. That's a big factor. He can say anything and do anything he wants, which is different than what Green did."

"That's what is going to make our show distinct from the British version. We are really going into the psychological defect of a frontal-lobe injury from a gunshot, and it plays out in each case."

Along with Rifkin and Willis as executive producers - and show-runner Robert Palm - "Touching Evil" marks the TV debut of the Hughes Brothers ("Menace II Society," "From Hell"). Albert Hughes is an executive producer, while brother Allen is also an executive producer and director (including the pilot).

Allen Hughes isn't particularly worried about fans of the original complaining about changes - much as he wasn't worried about concerns from the fans of the graphic novel that inspired "From Hell."

"Why would we do the graphic novel?" he asks. "The graphic novel has been done. And why would we do exactly what they did (in the UK)? In this day and age, you can just jump on Amazon.com and order the 'Touching Evil' video. Why do that? It would be boring.

"Let's take the best things about the show, which are the crimes and touching evil, basically, how it affects these people, namely Creegan, and how his handicap has affected his job to some degree."

"Green played Creegan very straight and cold. I respect that, but I made a pact with myself before we did 'From Hell,' I can't do things, movies or TV or whatever, where the bad guy is more interesting than our lead."

Lest anyone think that Willis is just a name on the letterhead for this show, Rifkin points out, "Bruce offered to Robson Green to do an episode of the British version. That's how much in love with the show he was."

Although Willis doesn't feel he could have played Creegan ("About 20 years ago, I could have played this character," he says), he would like to be on screen at some point.

"I actually volunteered to play a villain in one of the episodes," he says, "and I plan on doing so. I'm not sure when."

"I'm not going to speak for him," Allen Hughes says, "but if I was Willis, I'd wait to see if it gets picked up for another season, then I'd do it."

Another major change from the original is that Green had Creegan's gunshot scar applied to his forehead every day ("Took a half-hour," Green says), but Donovan came with one already in place.

Jeffrey Donovan stars as a detective returning to work after a near-death experience, and Vera Farmiga plays his partner, in "Touching Evil," premiering Friday on USA Network.
